Do-it-yourself mom-to-be makes history

She inseminates herself after taking the donor sperm home in a spice jar

EXPECTANT mom Elaine Ensor consulted an astrologer.

By RAFE KLINGER

Doctors were stunned when mom-to-be Elaine Ensor admitted that she became pregnant after carrying sperm to her house in a spice bottle — and artificially inseminating herself at home.

"She's an incredibly lucky lady that it took so easily and quickly," said a doctor in Johannesburg, South Africa, where Elaine lives.

"Statistically she had a 6 percent chance of falling pregnant by this method."

But the 33-year-old owner of an East India restaurant knew her attempts to become a mom would be successful because her astrologer told her so.

"When my astrologer told me conditions were favorable, I just knew it was going to happen," she gushed with joy.

Still Elaine's amazing home-made baby threatens to unleash a storm of controversy. Elaine is white and the secret sperm donor who is the baby's father is an East Indian. That means the child will have limited rights as a citizen because it will be only part white.

Additionally, Elaine is single and lives with another woman — although she stresses they are not lesbians. And despite the political implications, Elaine said she purposely chose a sperm donor who was not considered white in South Africa.

"I wanted someone tall, good-looking, gentle, sensitive, artistic and politically aware," she said. "I like the idea of the white-Indian mix so I specifically wanted an Indian donor."

Elaine first put ads in the paper asking for a donor, but the actual choice turned out to be a friend of a friend. After interviewing the man and having him test for AIDS and venereal diseases, she signed a contract with him. Friends believe she paid the donor $750 for his sperm.

On the day before her time for ovulation, Elaine had the man collect his sperm in a little spice bottle. Then she hurried home and a friend helped her inseminate herself with a syringe. The procedure "took" the very first time.

Elaine says her dad refuses to speak to her after learning of the child's background. But she believes he will soften when the baby is born. Elaine's fortuneteller says the child will be a girl.

Meanwhile, Elaine and her roommate plan to raise the child together.

"I haven't come down to earth yet," she gushed. "All my friends have been incredibly supportive."

Firecracker kills groom at reception

By SUSAN JIMISON

Radiant bride Samantha Comito became a widow on her wedding day when her handsome groom Vincent was killed by an exploding firecracker.

Samantha, 22, watched in horror as a fireworks display during the couple's Queensland, Australia, wedding reception erupted in explosion. The canister for one of the rockets blew to smithereens, and shrapnel flew in all directions.

One piece of metal hit a tree and ricocheted, hitting Vin-

horrible, too horrible to imagined," said a friend of the bride who witnessed the tragic accident. "One minute they were standing side by side smiling at the beautiful display and the next moment he was lying stone dead at Samantha's feet."

Samantha and her young husband had wed only seven hours before Vincent was killed. They had planned to leave the following day for a honeymoon on Australia's Great Barrier Reef.

Instead, plans were made to bury Vincent not far from his

"Of all people, it should not have been them," said the couple's friend. "They were so much in love and they had such a future together.

"Now Samantha is alone and heartbroken. The man she loved is gone, along with all her dreams. I don't know how she'll ever recover from the loss."

Little man with a big job

PIPE-SQUEAK

By JACK ALEXANDER

Tight quarters are not a problem for troubleshooting midget Clarence Hughes, who puts on a miner's headlamp, walks into a sewer pipe and fixes it.

"It really rumbles in there when the cars go by overhead," said the tiny, 60-year-old repairman. "But the sound doesn't bother me."

The pint-size Mr. Fixit is in great demand around Tempe, Ariz., because he can go where others can't to repair water, drainage and irrigation pipes.

"I have worked in pipes as small as 16 inches," said Hughes, who is barely four feet tall. "That was when they flew me to North Carolina. They needed a leak fixed."

Most people would have to stoop to work inside a 60-inch pipe, but it isn't a problem to Hughes, who has to strain to reach the top.

"The 60-inch pipe is as big as I can go," he said. "I can stand straight up inside a 42-inch pipe, but I have to stoop over to work in a 36-incher."

Hughes got into the pipe-fixing business 30 years ago when a friend overheard a construction boss say he needed someone to crawl in a pipe and repair it.

"I love the work," he said. "Every day is different. You get to work in different surroundings all the time."

When the little pipe-squeak isn't working, he and his wife Jeannie, who is 3-foot-10, go dancing. "I love country music," he said.

There was a time when Hughes saw his tiny body as a curse rather than a blessing.

"When I was about 8 or 9, I used to think I was handicapped, that I was the only guy in the world like this," he said. "But all that really matters is believing in yourself."

Pint-size Mr. Fixit is always in demand for his ability to work in tight spots

Oh no! They built our house on the wrong lot!

OWNERS of this new vacation home were shocked to find the

By ROSE GRADY

Pat and Patricia Donoghue can find only one itsy-bitsy fault with the lovely three-bedroom weekend retreat they had built in Delaware's peaceful Angola-by-the-Bay — it was built on someone else's land!

"I can't believe it happened," an astonished Pat said after learning of the surveyor's goof that put his dream house on the wrong lot.

The Donoghue house should have been built on lot W-7, a narrow, wooded lot on Bridgeway Drive.

But surveyor Charles L. Coffman apparently became confused by the almost identical lots and the house went up on adjacent lot W-8 instead.

Lot W-8 is co-owned by Dr. Vincent Lobo of Harrington, and John M. Mervine.

"It happens to the best of people," said Mervine's wife Peggy.

that it's happened in the same development where the Donoghue house was built.

"One fine day, the guy who owned the land walked into my office with a big grin on his face," said John Umschlag, an official of the Angola-by-the-Bay Property Owners Association.

"He wanted to know who to thank for the lovely new house."

He said the happy landowner wasn't too keen on selling his lot to the hapless owner of the house.

"In the end, a swap was made," Umschlag said. "But the surveyor had to pay a high price (for his mistake)."

to figure out a solution with Dr. Lobo and Mervine, and Patricia Donoghue feels certain the vexing problem will soon be corrected.

He doesn't like the taste of tobacco so . . .

DIRT-LOVER Welborn tucks a pinch of mother earth between cheek and gum.

Baseball player chews dirt!

NEW YORK METS pitcher Todd Welborn says there's always plenty of dirt around.

Lots of baseball pitchers gnaw on a chaw of tobacco on the mound. But New York Mets reliever Todd Welborn figures tobacco is nasty stuff — so he chews plain, old-fashioned dirt!

By JOE BERGER

"Dirt doesn't give you cancer like chewing tobacco does," explains odd Todd, caressing a pinch of mother earth between his cheek and gum.

"Besides, dirt tastes great, there's always plenty of it waiting for me at the ball park — and when you chew dirt nobody comes around trying to bum some off of you."

The down-home hurler from Ronda, N.C., adopted the gritty ritual a couple of years back when boredom got the best of him as he cooled his heels in the bull pen. "I was sitting there with not much to do, so I reached down and grabbed a little dirt and stuck it in my mouth," he recalled. "That was all.

"It was nice and sweet, and I thought, 'Boy, this isn't bad.' I liked the taste so much I've been chewing on dirt ever since.

"To me it adds a lot to the pleasure of the game. I don't even think about it much anymore — I just do it and enjoy it."

But isn't he afraid the next chaw of soil he shoves in his mouth will be loaded with germs or contain a bug?

"Not really," dirt-lover Welborn insists. "A few germs never hurt anybody and if I do get a bug, it makes it taste just that much better."

Todd, 24, admits some of his teammates look askance at him when they see him munching dirt. "But most of them are just jealous that I have such a cheap, wholesome habit," the playful pitcher told The NEWS.

"They would all love to chew dirt, too.

"But they're just scared to try it."

'There's plenty of it!'

Nurse's aide kills elderly patient, say cops

Retired teacher hacked to pieces with chain saw!

By PETE COOKE

A nurse's aide hired to help a retired schoolteacher recover from hip surgery stole $15,000 from the elderly woman's bank account, then hacked her to pieces with a chain saw when the theft was discovered, say cops.

Ruth Nedermier, the 72-year-old victim, had been missing from her home in West Palm Beach, Fla., for more than a week before her dismembered body was found in a steamer trunk and identified by the serial number on her artificial hip.

CHARGED with murder: Inger Lemaout, 24.

Several days after the grisly discovery of Miss Nedermier's body, her 24-year-old nurse's aide, Inger Lemont, surrendered to police and was charged with first-degree murder.

Authorities in the shocking case say Miss Nedermier, a retired elementary schoolteacher, hired Miss Lemont to help her recover following hip replacement surgery.

But over the next several months the nurse's aide managed to drain as much as $15,000 from Miss Nedermier's checking account, investigators said.

According to cops, the retired teacher was killed after she found out about the missing money and confronted Miss Lemont.

The victim's body was cut up with a chain saw and stuffed into a steamer trunk that was left at the home of Miss Lemont's father, Rudolph Lemont, who called police after the trunk began to emit a foul odor.

Two years ago, Miss Lemont pleaded guilty to charges of grand theft and dealing in stolen property after she was accused of stealing $8,000 in jewelry from another woman she'd worked for as a nurse's aide.

But Miss Lemont's attorney, Robert Ullman, said his client didn't steal account or kill the woman. Miss Lemont said she had permission from Miss Nedermier to sign checks, according to Ullman.

Ullman said he thinks police charged Miss Lemont with murder "in retaliation" for her refusal to confess. "Supposedly this young lady — all by herself — took out a chain saw and dismembered this person, stuck her in a van, secured a trunk — and then the body turns up on the father Rudolph Lemont's patio," the lawyer said.

Miss Lemont was ordered held

Tarantula Twins condemned to life as circus freaks

By PETE COOKE

GREEDY PARENTS SELL THEIR SPIDER GIRLS

As if fate wasn't already cruel enough to Siamese twins Jamuna and Ganga Mandal, their own parents made a fortune from the girls' deformity by selling them to a circus freak show!

The tragic twins who are joined at the chest have four arms and two legs, but cannot stand upright, crawling instead on their hands and feet.

The 19-year-old Siamese twins were born on a small farm in Keshabpur, India, to peasant parents Belait and Ayesha Mandal.

Superstitious villagers feared the sisters were cursed and wanted them put to death, but later, as news of the birth spread, crowds of curious people began arriving at Mandal's farm 500 miles from New Delhi.

"Tourists kept arriving at our farm by the busload and we realized our daughters could make us a lot of money," said Mandal, 40.

TRAGIC TWINS share four arms, two legs and a lower torso.

The greedy parents wasted no time cashing in on their daughters' terrible misfortune and sold them to the sideshow of a traveling circus based in New Delhi. Since then the girls have appeared with the circus all over India, billed sometimes as the Amazing Spiderwoman, and other times as the Tarantula Twins.

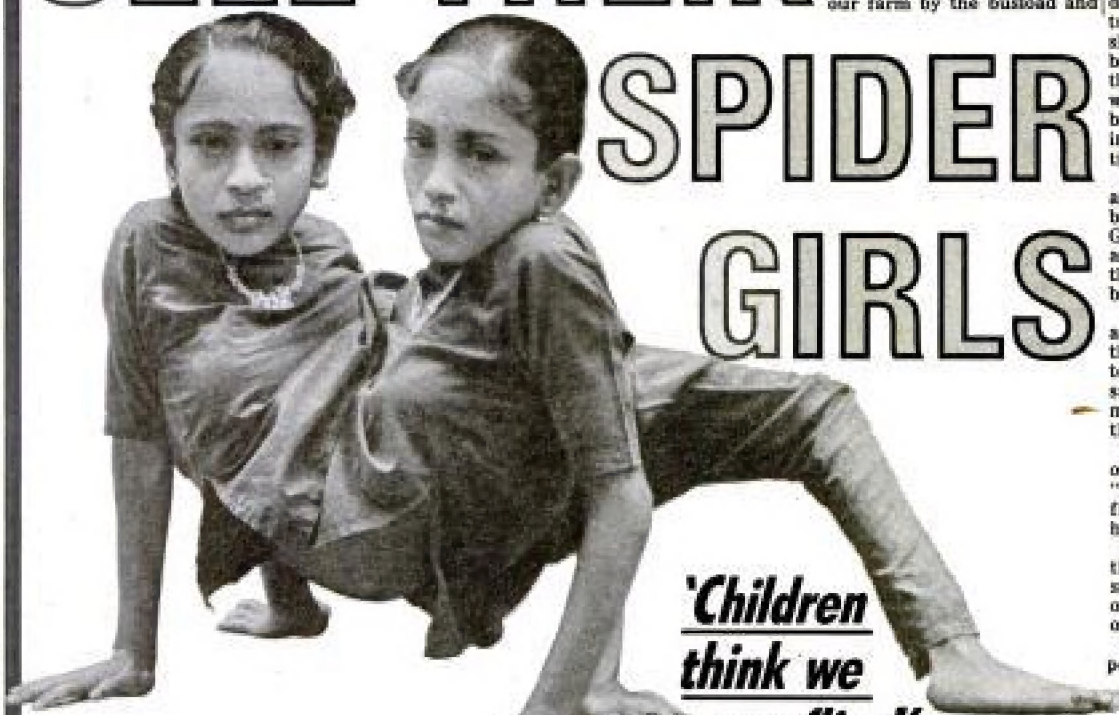
"When there are no crowds around us sometimes we break down crying," said Ganga. "All our lives we have asked the same question — if there is a God, why were we born like this?"

Jamuna and Ganga are such a popular circus attraction that their parents continued to receive money from their sale until the girls recently made their own deal and cut their cruel parents off.

"Our parents became rich at our expense," Jamuna said. "Now we can keep all the money from our shows so we won't have to worry about old age."

The twins said that after all their years in the circus, the sideshow has become their only real home, but the taunts of the crowds still hurt.

"What really annoys me are people who actually believe we are a human spider," Jamuna said. "Often the children look at us as if we feed on flies or if we can show them how to spin a web."



'Children think we eat flies!'

TOURISTS GAWK at Siamese twins Jamuna and Ganga Mandal. The girls say their parents have enriched themselves peddling their pathetic condition. "We know we look strange and people call us names like tarantula and spider," said Ganga.

Couple's $10,000 jackpot slapped with $8,300 tax

A Swedish couple who won a $10,000 car on a TV game show was furious when they got an $8,300 tax bill for the prize.

Mats and Margareta Johansson of Stockholm have appealed to the Swedish government for an exemption, but the couple isn't too hopeful of getting a break.

Taxes in Sweden rank among the world's highest and the average Swedish worker pays 80 percent of his earnings to the government.

Car squashed in gas station flub

When his car turned up missing, mystified motorist John Geraca searched high and low for three days before finding it — squashed like a bug!

Geraca had left his red 1975 Chevy at a Coral Springs, Fla., service station, intending to pick it up a couple of hours later. But when he got back, owner had called a tow truck to pick up a red Chevy scheduled for junking — and nobody noticed when the truck towed away the wrong red Chevy.

The flabbergasted Geraca eventually found his car — after it had gone through a junkyard crusher.

Ex-cop jailed in $2 billion drug scheme

Residents in ex-cop John Routollo's ritzy neighborhood wondered how he could afford an $800,000 home — until he was jailed on drug charges.

Routollo, 63, had kept a low profile in the posh section of Montclair, N.J., until federal agents carted him off to the hoosegow.

By JACK ALEXANDER

The retired New York City cop is accused of helping a Hong Kong drug dealer smuggle $2 billion worth of drugs into the U.S. Specifically, he is charged with conspiracy to import marijuana and aiding and abetting importation of drugs. He is being held in a Brooklyn, N.Y., jail without bail.

Routollo, his wife and three teenage daughters moved into the fashionable neighborhood in 1987, a year after he retired from the NYC police department. He appeared so wealthy that his curious neighbors wondered how an ex-cop could afford to live so high on the hog. "He and his family didn't mix with the neighbors," said a woman who didn't give her name.

FORMER New York City cop John Routollo, inset, bought this $800G house in posh Montclair, N.J.

Routollo was working in the police department's firearms licensing unit in 1979 when he met Kon (Johnny Kon) Yu-Leung, an Asian drug lord who was arrested by federal agents in New York City, said Assistant U.S. Atty. Kathleen Talmer.

"The conspiracy charges pertain to the years 1984-87 and the aiding and abetting count in June and July of 1984," she said.

Edna Hulbert has picked up pen pals from all over without using the post office — she makes new friends by putting messages in bottles that she drops into rivers and lakes.

The 66-year-old Chicago, Ill., woman says she tossed her first bottle into the Mississippi River near St. Louis, Missouri, when she was a teenager. Since then, she's dropped bottles in oceans, rivers and lakes around the world.

Over the past 50 years, she's picked up 30 pen pals. Two of her bottles even brought romance.

A man and a woman living 100 miles apart each found one and wrote to Edna.

"Now they're going to get married," says Edna.

Meet the girl who cheated death— 18 times

MIRACLE KID Kary Jiggle owes her life to a device the size of a paperback novel.

. . . thanks to a little black box

Courageous little Kary Jiggle is a happy, healthy 4-year-old who's cheated death not once — but an incredible 18 times!

And the mischievous miracle babe owes her life to a little black box no bigger than a paperback novel.

"Every time I see her playing and think of what she's been through, I feel like dropping to my knees and thanking God," said the lively tyke's loving mom Ann.

From the time she was 6 weeks old, cutie-pie Kary suffered from the same mysterious affliction that kills thousands of so-called crib death babies every year.

For no obvious reason, she would suddenly stop breathing as she slept.

"I'll never forget the first time it happened," Ann told reporters in Northampton, England.

"She was fine one minute and next she had gone black and stopped breathing. I picked her up and started shaking her and she began breathing again.

"The next week it happened again.

"This time we rushed her to the hospital."

Doctors told Kary's parents about a black box, an electronic alarm, that could be wired to the child day and night to monitor her breathing.

When her breathing stopped, the alarm would sound — giving Mom and Dad time to reach her and bring her back from the brink of death.

"We wouldn't even take her home until we'd bought a box and had it with us," Ann said.

Over the next year and a half that chilling alarm sounded 16 times, warning Mike and Ann Jiggle that their blue-eyed daughter was dying. And each time they managed to save her life.

"Eventually the doctors told us Kary was out of danger and we could take her off the monitor," Ann recalled. "We were relieved but it was still a bit terrifying."

Kary's dad Mike was so thankful for their good fortune that he set up a system to supply monitors to parents of other endangered babies who couldn't afford to buy them. His "Help Prevent a Cot Death Appeal" has handed out 300 of the $400 contraptions so far.

This message is only for those who have never won anything at the races, lotto or other lotteries...or who have only won insignificant amounts (less than $100).
This message is also for those of you who believe it is impossible to win several thousand dollars and think that their life will never be anything but a succession of dull, sad days.

Your golden number

Scientists admit that planetary positions on our birthdate influences our lives, our behavior and the right - and wrong - decisions we make. Now, more and more people recognize that a particular number will also influence our lives. Some assert that this number is the visible sign - much like a mystical presence - through which the infinite intelligence helps us...proving that we are not totally on our own.

If you have read, as I have, statements made by big time winners (over $1,000,000), then you know they very often admit to having been helped by being dictated all or some of the numbers. They will acknowledge this fact openly though some may not believe them.

The more specialized media will also prove to you that an incredible amount of people have won hundreds and thousands they never could have hoped to win - thanks to their personal lucky number. They often talk and write about it.

Help yourself and heaven will help you

Despair no more

It is a fact that luck strikes most often when it is least expected. Reading this message is the first step. Luck is about to come your way. Perhaps you were to read this message.

Looking back on all the important moments of your life, you might have noticed that a certain number - different from other people's numbers - reoccurs over and over again. Those who understand the message and who recognize their Golden Number have been known to win thousands at the races, lotto or lotteries.

I wish to reach those of you who - for various reasons - have not grasped this message.

Divers discover underwater dungeon of the damned

CARGO SHIP Fourie Truter went down to Davy Jones' Locker in 1983 off the coast of Africa.

Crew survives for 5 years in hold of sunken ship

By HENRY WEBER

The crew of a ship that sank five years ago miraculously survived in their underwater tomb until divers rescued them late last month, say authorities.

The mind-boggling discovery of the men in 40 feet of water off Africa's Ivory Coast came as a shock to authorities who thought all 14 hands perished when the cargo ship Fourie Truter went down on June 23, 1983.

As authorities pointed out, there was no way they could have known that an enormous air bubble formed in the hold, literally providing the crewmen with space to live and breathe.

They also didn't take into account the fact that the ship was carrying canned meats and bottled water when it sank.

"Their survival was a miracle, nothing more, nothing less," marine commission spokesman Lucian Parinet told reporters in Grand Bassam, Ivory Coast.

"From what we gather the men were pinned in the ship's hold by hull damage but managed to float a hose to the surface for additional air.

"That's not to say that their imprisonment wasn't hellish. Their radio gear malfunctioned and they had no contact with the outside world.

"Those pathetic men survived the cramped quarters in darkness with nothing to do but wait for someone to find them."

They looked like corpses — and three of the men were insane

Those dungeon-like conditions took a horrible toll on the men, said Parinet. By the time recreational divers found the wreck and alerted authorities on March 22, the survivors were psychologically and physically devastated.

Eleven of the men required emergency treatment for medical conditions caused by poor diet. Three others were not only weak and malnourished, but clinically insane.

Amadou Valee was one of the first rescuers to see the survivors. He told reporters they looked "like living ghosts, pasty white and rail thin. We tried to talk to them but they didn't make sense," he continued.

"They spoke in word fragments and tried to talk to each other with grunts and groans."

HELLISH scene of half-starved, half-crazed men, was described by divers who entered the ship's hold.

Kitten stomper fined $1,000

A man who stomped on his wife's kitten and fed it to his snarling pit bull has been convicted of animal cruelty and fined nearly $1,000.

But a California Superior Court judge refused a recommendation ment that Robert Graham spend 10 weekends in jail. Graham was given three years' probation in addition to the fine.

Graham's estranged wife Kathy told Bakersfield cops that he came to her home and argued with her.

He then grabbed her kitten out of her arms, threw it on the ground and jumped up and down on it before tossing it to his pit bull.

Mrs. Graham said the kitten was dead by the time she pried it away from the ferocious dog.

Big bass story was fishy

A California fisherman thought he'd earned a place in the record books when he hooked a 21-pound 10-ounce largemouth bass — until he discovered a 2½-pound lead weight in its stomach.

"I wish I never caught that fish," said Sandy DeFresco of La Mesa after taking it to taxidermist Jamie Lyons, who

Jo Baldrich:

Last year I was asked to test a weight loss formula and

I lost so much weight, so fast, that my doctor said, 'That's enough'!

HERE'S WHAT HAPPENED: I went from 178 to 115 pounds in no time while never depriving myself of the foods I like. One year later, I still haven't regained one pound!

I used to weigh 110 pounds when I was still in high school. Then, I got married, had my first child and there went my youthful figure. It bothered me but I thought that things would straighten themselves out. A year later, I had my second one and gained another 15 pounds. After my third one, I gained again, and when I had my fourth and last child, I ended up weighing an unsightly 179 pounds!

I WAS FAT!

My blood pressure was all the way up. I had become a good candidate for diabetes. My heart felt like it had become too weak to keep me going. Even getting up from a chair had become a chore. I felt permanently exhausted and was ashamed of myself each time I had to face the outside world.

So, my doctor put me on a special diet. At first, that worked a little, but later, as my willpower weakened, if it took me an entire week of terrible frustration to lose a miserable two pounds, the slightest escapade, like tasting my husband's dessert, quickly made me regain four!

It was as if I was getting fat from simply looking at yummy food!

From then on, I resolutely started to try every weight loss system on the market. EVERY SINGLE ONE OF THEM! Now and then, I would lose a little, but never for long. This went on until I was really feeling desperate and ready to cry.

Then, One Day . . .

I was asked to try a new formula (now called REDUCIN) on condition that I would write a statement after trying it for eight weeks. I thought: Why not, if it can't do any harm, even if it doesn't help, I have nothing to lose. Nevertheless, the first thing I did when I received the formula was to show it to my doctor who said: For me, it's O.K. It's harmless and if it helps, it's marvelous.

Five Days Later . . .

I had already lost 7 pounds! Imagine, I, who had tried it all, I was suddenly losing weight at the rate of more than a pound a day. Without any effort at all! I couldn't believe it was finally happening. I have always loved pizzas and chocolate. I would die for anything with chocolate. And now, I didn't have to give them up. The only difference is that, without noticing it at first, I was eating only half of what I used to.

When I was down to a slim 115 pounds, my doctor said: Listen, your blood pressure is back to normal and I no longer see any danger for diabetes. Don't overdo it, don't get too skinny, that's enough! It may be unwise to lose more than you already did.

Today . . .

I feel so young and beautiful again now that I can wear the same size clothing I used to wear when I was a teenager. REDUCIN is simply fantastic. What could be better than losing weight without effort or having to give up your favorite foods knowing that, should you ever have a problem again in the future, REDUCIN is there to help you out in no time at all!

Results 100% Guaranteed ONE HUNDRED PERCENT!

If you've always wanted something REALLY STRONG to LOSE MUCH WEIGHT REALLY FAST, but HARMLESS because you don't want to endanger your health? Then, the newest name on the market, REDUCIN, is exactly what you need. You too can now lose more excess weight more easily and faster than you have ever imagined. Just like Jo Baldrich. She's childless one minute — and mother of four the next

"This is the happiest day of my life," said proud mom Karen Lohan — after giving birth to four babies in two minutes.

The quadruplets — three girls and a boy — were born five weeks premature in a Stony Brook, N.Y., hospital and are in excellent health.

The happy mom is shown with her offspring and flanked by proud granny Elsie Dillinger, left, and great-granny Thora Carlon.

"I'm a lucky dad," said her husband, Chris, 28. "I have only one birthday to remember." The event came on Karen's 29th birthday.

After four years of trying and failing to have a baby, the childless couple asked a lawyer to help them adopt.

"Then we decided to make one last try — and in August we called off the lawyer," said Karen.

The couple's storybook romance began 13 years ago when he was a high school football captain and she was a cheerleader.

DOLLY'S SECRET LOVE TRAGEDY

Superstar was ready to end it all after mystery man shattered her heart

Super songbird Dolly Parton has made a shocking revelation about the secret love affair and heartbreak that drove her to the brink of suicide.

"I won't say who it was except that it was an affair of the heart and it left me totally shattered," Dolly said of the mystery lover who broke her heart three years ago.

"Before I knew it, Dolly the strong person completely lost control."

Incredibly, the busty blonde with the bubbly personality was so crushed and down in the dumps that she was ready to end it all. She still trembles as she recalls that terrible moment when she sat in her bedroom with a gun in her hand feeling as blue as can be.

"I picked up the gun from the bedside table and thought, 'I must get out of this terrible depression or end it all here.' "

Her life was saved by a surprise intruder. It was her pet pooch Popeye, a little terrier.

"I looked at this sweet dog that loves and trusts me and put the gun away," recalls Dolly. "It was like a message from God.

"Right then and there I decided to get my life back on track."

Since then, Dolly's undergone a remarkable weight loss and thrown her considerable energies back into doing what she does best — making folks happy by singing. — London Today.

ROYAL RAMBOS: Di & Fergie taught to kill

Princess Di

Blue-blooded beauties Princess Di and Sarah Ferguson, the Duchess of York, are being turned into royal Rambos and taught to kill in life or death situations.

Top officials in Britain decided the ladies should learn to defend themselves in the rare event their bodyguards are overcome by terrorists. So Di and Fergie have undergone secret training with Britain's crack SAS (Special Air Service) anti-terrorist squad. Wearing black, custom-fitted battle jumpsuits, the royals were taught to handle a variety of weapons and trained in marksmanship. Observers at the base have nicknamed Fergie "Rambo" for her tendency to be quick on the trigger and blast away at targets of friend or foe.

"The Duchess reacts faster, but sometimes chooses the wrong target and because of that, she has been nicknamed 'Rambo.'

The royals have also undergone mock attacks with guns blasting and grenades exploding to learn not to panic under fire. — London People.

CREATE LIFE'S GREATEST BLESSINGS BY COMBINING THE POWER OF THE HOLY PSALMS WITH THE MAGIC OF BURNING DIFFERENT COLORED CANDLES

CANDLE BURNING MAGIC WITH THE PSALMS

Now it is possible to obtain all of your heart's desires by burning different colored candles in conjunction with reading specific Psalms in the Holy Bible.

CANDLE BURNING

Since ancient times, wise men, prophets, and mystics have used the Holy magical art of candle burning to dispel the darkness of negativity from their lives. Symbolic prayers have also been used down through the ages to channel the light of the universal mind into great benefits for deserving souls, in addition to the general well being of humankind.

MAGIC IN THE PSALMS

The Biblical Book of Psalms has long been regarded as a collective work that when properly utilized can enable an individual to gain power over unwelcomed situations, and attract that which is wanted the most.

In fact, it is widely believed that there are actually "secret meanings" hidden away in each of the 150 psalms, and that certain "Divinely inspired words" when repeated can provide the means to improving life's most unsettling conditions.

Actually, the Magic of the Psalms has long been regarded as a powerful tool to personal blessings by initiates of the Secret Wisdom of the Kabbalah, as it is thought they were originally given to the Prophet Moses by Angelic beings.

FIRST TIME REVEALED

Now anyone can learn how to combine the forces of candle burning along with the magic of the Psalms.

William Alexander Oribello is both an accomplished mystic and a student of the hidden meaning of the Bible. Since an early age, he has had visitations from the Three Wisemen, as well as the Masters of Universal Wisdom. Currently, he is director of the Mystic Light Society in Philadelphia, where he teaches esoteric studies to select students.

150 GUARANTEED BLESSINGS

In this book you will find 150 blessings — one for each of the Psalms in the Holy Scriptures. Each Psalm is reprinted along with the color candle you must burn, as well as the Divine name to be used when reading a particular chapter and verse. Among the blessings included are:

'He thinks it's open season on women,' says fed up preacher

GET OUT — AND STAY OUT! That's what playboy of the pews John Steinmann heard from his angry pastor. But the randy retiree, above, vows to get back in the good graces of the congregation.

LADIES' MAN? John Steinmann can't stop making passes at the female parishioners of the First Congregational Church of Washington, Conn., says the preacher.

OLD ROMEO BOOTED OUT OF CHURCH!

By JOE BERGER

Wrinkled Romeo John Steinmann, 78, has been ordered to get out of church and stay out — because his pastor says the playboy pensioner would rather prey on the ladies than pray for his soul.

"When Mr. Steinmann comes to church, he thinks it's open season on the women," the Rev. Richard Sears told The NEWS.

"They try to get away from him but he won't take no for an answer. He gets so aggressive he frightens some of them."

The First Congregational Church of Washington, Conn., won a restraining order barring the amorous oldster from attending services or making passes at parishioners outside the church.

One outraged lady testified at the hearing that Steinmann was constantly harassing her in church.

On one occasion, she said, he sidled up against her in a pew, grabbed her arm and made lewd remarks to her during a hymn referring to the bosom of the Lord.

Don Juan John admits he has a fondness for the fair sex and figures church is a fine place to get acquainted.

"But I don't annoy anybody, I just talk to them," he insists. "That's the Christian way. I'm honorable and decent.

"In fact, there's one lonely young woman in that church that I intend to marry someday. She may not know it yet, but I'm going to marry her."

The lady-chasing retiree says he's so determined to worm his way back into the church that he'll hang around outside every Sunday morning, waiting for an invitation to attend the services.

"I respect the law," he said. "I'll be there but I do not intend to go into the church unless they invite me."

But grandpa John's not so vows. "We don't like to tell anybody not to come to church, but Mr. Steinmann is deluding himself if he thinks he's getting in here," said the peeved pastor. "We have to think about the women.

"They don't want to come to church and have this old guy chasing them all around the room.

"It's very unpleasant."

Pretty young woman says her obsession is no 'fatal attraction'

Judge orders gal to stay away from the man she loves!

VIVACIOUS brunette Jacqueline Southcombe says judge's order is "barbaric."

By SUSAN JIMISON

It took a court order to keep Jacqueline Southcombe away from the man she loves.

The pretty 24-year-old brunette had such an obsession with her former live-in lover Dr. Mark Roman that she couldn't leave him alone after they broke up last year. A judge in her hometown of York, England, had to kick her out of town to stop her from bothering him.

"He wouldn't communicate with me, he would not speak to me," said Jacqueline, who has been compared with Alex, the woman in the hit movie Fatal Attraction who haunted a man who rejected her.

"I was in such a state of frustration and rage that I just couldn't help myself."

Authorities had to step in after Dr. Roman complained that Jacqueline had visited his home on several occasions and violently resisted his attempts to eject her.

She's not allowed within 20 miles of her ex-beau

Dr. Roman, 29, took the matter to court and Jacqueline was banned from going within 20 miles of York for three months.

"I think it is a barbaric order," fumed Jacqueline, a representative for a pharmaceutical company. Jacqueline says it isn't love that keeps her on Dr. Roman's doorstep — it's money. She insists that she deserves a part of his income during the years she lived with him.

But her desperate visits to her former lover didn't begin until Dr. Roman moved in with another woman. And then they began with a vengeance.

Once Jacqueline scuffled with Dr. Roman and fell down the stairs of his home.

"Mark immediately called the police — not an ambulance — even though I was hurt," she recalled later.

Another time Dr. Roman tossed Jacqueline out of his home and she threw a rock through his window.

BANISHED to the country, Jacqueline is staying with friends far away from her home in York.

Schoolkids' show-and-tell is a stash of stolen gems

A couple of second-graders knocked 'em dead when they showed their bug-eyed teacher and classmates what they brought for a show-and-tell session — it was part of a $10,000 haul of stolen gems!

By DICK DONOVAN

What the boys thought was mere costume jewelry turned out to be the real stuff, all of it taken in the burglary of a home in suburban Milwaukee.

door, intending to return for it later.

The $4,000 in jewels the boys found were returned to the owner, who gave each of them a $30 reward. Cops are still on the lookout for the rest of the "treasure."

How to make others secretly DO YOUR BIDDING with the astonishing power of AUTOMATIC MIND COMMAND!

Here's how to get started in just 3 minutes . . .

Dear Friend:

New power is about to leap into your life . . . an astonishing way to control the thoughts and actions of others without their knowing it . . . no matter how much they may not want to follow your instructions, they carry them out to a "T" every time!

With "Automatic Mind-Command" you'll be running the show. Make a wish, turn on The Power, and watch those around you drop everything and do what they're told.

And nobody will even have the faintest idea that you're behind it all. That's the beauty of "Automatic Mind-Command"—you are the only one who knows what's going on—you alone decide when things should start . . . stop . . . change around.

CONTROL YOUR FRIENDS OR STRANGERS!

You can use it to control your friends or strangers, one at a time or in large numbers, at any time, and ANY WAY YOU LIKE.

For example: You go into a bank for a loan. The credit man smiles but says "Sorry. You don't qualify for a loan right now: however, if there's anything else I can do for you, I'd be glad to . . ." Then in a flash, his tune changes when you let loose your "Automatic Mind-Command." He continues, "In fact, we'll be glad to give you $1,000 more than you asked for. And any time you want more, just see me personally! Thank you so much for coming by!"

Impossible? You'll be doing things like that every day without even thinking about it. As soon as you need something done, it's done! The people who do these things for you will remember what they did, but not why!

FUN POWER—TOO!

You can have a lot of fun with this power, too. Look how Evelyn C. used it at work . . . One day, while sorting papers, her boss angrily inquired why she had to make so much noise—and scolded her in front of everybody. Evelyn said nothing, but smiled to herself—for she had just turned on the "Automatic Mind-Command . . ." Suddenly the boss apologized for being a scoundrel. "Please . . . I'm sorry," he said, in front of everybody. "I'd like to make it up to you!" And he told her what a wonderful person she was! When Evelyn turned the power off, the boss just stood there with an open mouth, wondering what made him say all those things.

Think what this power can mean in your life. You need money . . . and it's there! You want some affection . . . you'll be smothered! You want peace and quiet . . . the world stands still!

NO MORE SECRETS WILL BE KEPT FROM YOU!

People who think they can hold back the facts will meet their master in you! You just fire a little "Automatic Mind-Command" at them, and they'll sing like meadowlarks . . . Nona J. was at her wits' end when she tried to find the money she'd put aside to pay the rent—it was gone. A frantic search through the house turned up nothing. There was only one possibility left . . . she asked Billy. A look of surprise crossed his face. No—he hadn't seen any money. But Nona didn't believe him, and started using "Automatic Mind-Command" to find out if he was telling the truth. Suddenly Billy reached into his pocket and took out a roll of money. After giving her the money, he acted as if nothing had happened!

Think how many secrets must be hidden all around you! Things your spouse won't tell . . . your neighbors won't say . . . your boss keeps quiet about . . . ALL BROUGHT INTO THE OPEN JUST FOR YOU!! They'll tell you all their secrets, but they won't know why.

Hold on now, because I haven't told you yet about the best part of "Automatic Mind-Command."

You may have to bolt your door to keep people from overwhelming you with love, gifts, favors, rewards! Perfect strangers will be walking up to you and asking, "How are you? Can I do anything for you?" They will never suspect that "Automatic Mind-Command" is impelling them to like you, please you . . . and automatically want to help you.

INSTANTLY YOUR LIFE IS CHANGED!

At first, I couldn't believe it. And yet I know this to be true from my own personal experience . . . time after time. For example . . .

A STRANGER HANDS HIM $500—Harry G., a low-paid factory worker, wanted to start a business of his own. All he needed was cash to get started, but no one would give him the money. Finally someone told him how to use "Automatic Mind-Command"—and Harry laughingly tried it. A short time later, a perfect stranger handed him $500—saying he'd heard about Harry's plan, and was eager to help him get started!

Unusual? Not at all . . . things happen every day with "Automatic Mind-Command."

RECEIVES NEEDED CASH QUICKLY!—Mrs. Thelma J. reports, "I needed money badly." Her husband hadn't worked in months, and their savings were running out. Then she discovered "Automatic Mind-Command"—and turned on the power immediately! The next morning she received a package containing several hundred dollars from friends and well-wishers she never knew existed!

In all history, few indeed are the ones who have recognized "Automatic Mind-Command." The rest, who do not use it, pay the penalty in suffering, wishing, hoping, dreaming . . . Now I say to you: Wish no more!

HOW TO GET STARTED IN JUST 3 MINUTES!

Minute #1—Fill out the No-Risk Coupon and mail it to us.

Minute #2—When you receive a package in the mail from us, open it.

Minute #3—Lift the front cover, and let the secret feed itself in to your mind automatically.

After that, sit back, relax—and see how this power can work for you. It's as simple as that! It won't cost you one penny unless it works!

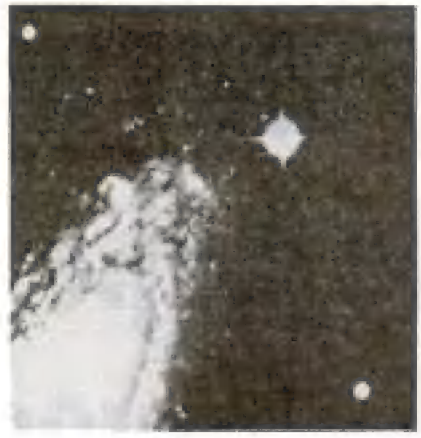
IN THAT INSTANT, YOU WILL ALREADY BE ABLE TO USE "AUTOMATIC MIND-COMMAND" FOR THE FIRST TIME . . . for money, love, healing, protection, and much more!

Imagine the thrill—after a lifetime of "scrimping" and "penny-pinching"—to see a tidal wave of riches rolling into your life from every direction—pay raises, bonuses, gifts, legacies . . . a rising tide of good fortune!

MORE AMAZING CASE HISTORIES!

And it's all just minutes away!

Larry S. wanted to see his girlfriend—although he had no idea where she was—and no way of contacting her by letter or phone. From far away . . . he began using "Automatic Mind-Command!" In that instant, his girlfriend knew what she had to do. She dropped what she was doing, excused herself and hurried to visit him. Arriving in record time—she hugged and kissed him, explaining that "something" told her he wanted and needed her, and what could she do for him!



Now here's a most fantastic use of "Automatic Mind-Command"—one I'm sure you'll agree proves that here is a power which staggers the imagination!

For example, cases of health-symptoms relieved with "Automatic Mind-Command!" John C. reports that his hearing now seems normal again! Warren W.'s blurred eyesight cleared, sharpened, and now seems normal! Lydia E. says her arthritic symptoms of soreness and stiffness in the fingers were relieved when nothing else seemed to help, and Mrs. M. S. was surprised when her leg pain disappeared. Bella S., who complained of "ulcerative colitis" with stomach cramps and diarrhea, obtained fast relief . . . And others report relief from complaints of high blood pressure, heart symptoms, "migraine" headaches, weakness, dizziness, fatigue, and more.

It's simple, easy, and automatic to apply!

YOURS TO PROVE—AT OUR RISK!

So you see, life can be beautiful with "Automatic Mind-Command." To discover its amazing power let it put you on the road to a NEW LIFE . . . filled to the brim with riches, love, pleasure and all the wonderful luxuries of the world . . . and more! You owe it to yourself to try it! Why not send in the No-Risk Coupon—TODAY!

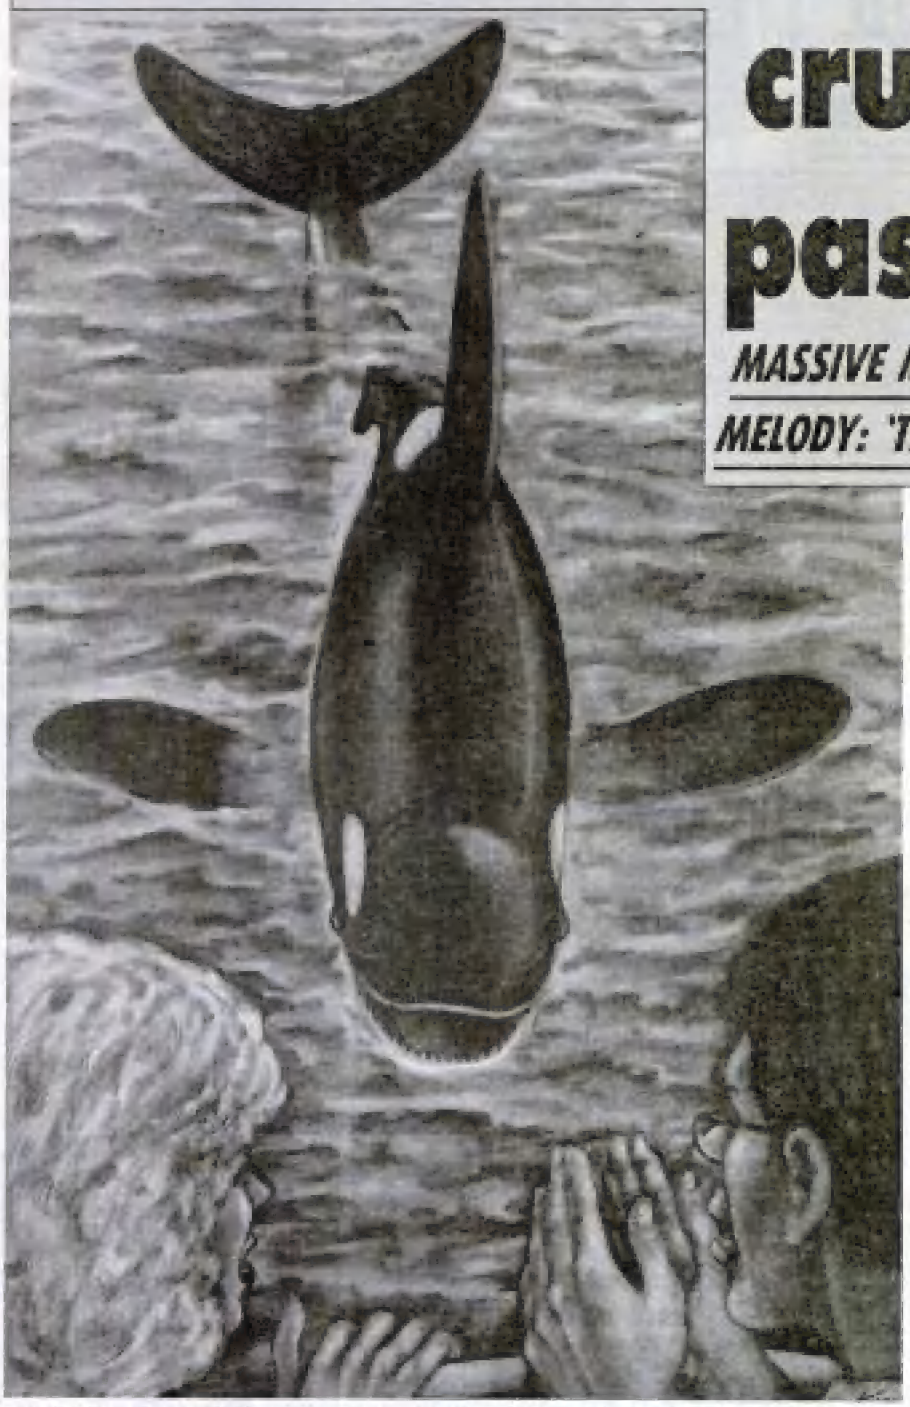
Killer whale serenades cruise ship passengers

MASSIVE MAMMAL'S MIND-BOGGLING MELODY: 'THREE COINS IN A FOUNTAIN'



STUNNED EYEWITNESSES say the wonder whale's rendition of the song was "quite strong."

By HENRY WEBER

A killer whale poked its head out of the water and sang Three Coins in a Fountain to more than 200 passengers on a cruise ship, news agencies report.

The amazing serenade reportedly lasted almost three minutes and was said to be in near perfect pitch. The 35-foot-long whale apparently had some trouble with pronunciation.

But witnesses insisted that it was understandable and the rendition itself was "quite strong."

"I know whales are trained to perform in marine shows but this whale was in the open sea," Fabio Tavora Lopes, captain of the cruise ship Iseu de Minas, told reporters in Salvador, Brazil.

"When it first appeared I thought somebody was playing a big practical joke. But it soon became obvious that the whale really was singing.

"When it finished it just stayed there and looked at us like it wanted applause. Most people were too shocked to do anything but stare. A few did clap their hands and when they did, the whale disappeared."

Afonso Zenobio was one of 225 passengers who claim to have witnessed the spectacle. He told reporters that the whale had absolutely no fear of people "and actually seemed to have tears in its eyes while singing."

"I know it sounds crazy but sometimes you get the feeling that an animal knows or feels things that it can't express," said Zenobio.

"It was almost as if this whale was trying to tell us that it wanted human companionship. Why else would it appear from the ocean and sing to us?"

Marine biologist Antonso Senche of Natal, Brazil, said that Zenobio probably wasn't too far off the mark.

"If the whale really did approach the ship and sing, then it is reasonable to assume that it has been around men and that somebody trained it," said the expert. "Scientists agree that whales are amazingly like humans.

"It may have been lonely, for killer whales are generally found much farther north and only appear extremely rarely off the coast of South America.

"That particular whale could have been released from a seaquarium. It's even possible someone living by the sea befriended it and taught it to sing.

"These mammals really are quite intelligent," he added. "Anyone who has seen them perform knows they are capable of great things."

I howled all night after he called me a dog

Send letters to: Dotti, Weekly World News, 600 S. East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla. 33462

Dear Dotti: My boyfriend just told me he wouldn't take me to a dog show — and that means he won't take me to the bowling team's big dance, either. I cry every time I see him now, and since we work on the same shift at the plant, that's a lot.

My family tells me that I have a cute personality, but I guess I'm the first to admit that I have some facial fuzz, stringy hair, kind of short, funny legs and sort of a jutting butt problem. But it seemed like being not so good-looking didn't matter to this guy, the captain of the mixed league bowling team, when he asked me to get on the team. I bowl real good, never less than 230.

This guy was so happy to have me on the team that he always took me out for pizza and beer afterward, so he got to be my boyfriend.

I'm the highest scorer in the league now, but he says that only matters in the bowling alley — not at the dance — and he doesn't want to dance with a dog.

I really want to go to this dance. How do I convince him to take me? — Dog Show, West Virginia

Dear Dog Show: Shave your mustache, paint your muzzle, curl your hair, cover those knock-knees with a pretty long dress, then show up at the dance and knock that mean-mouthed mutt's eyes out.

They say I am robbing the cradle

Dear Dotti: My girlfriend is all I have ever wanted — seriously. Her love gives me reason for living. The only time I feel peaceful at heart is when I'm with her.

But it's an uphill struggle for both of us. See, I'm 19 and she is 14. Everyone disapproves of our relationship, especially her parents. I can't see why. I always thought love was what counted.

Her parents say she is too young to understand what love is all about. That isn't true. We both truly love each other. I have tried talking to her parents and all they can see is our age differences. They refuse to let us see each other, but on rare occasions we see each other without anyone knowing.

I've gone through so many problems that I feel I at least deserve one good thing in my life — her love. Is that too much to ask? — Lost in Love, Tennessee

Dear Lost in Love: Your baby-faced teenie sweetie is jailbait for you.

Cool that purple passion and the sneaking around so she can get over her crush on an older man and graduate from high school.

I'm having trouble finding husband No. 5

Dear Dotti: I want to meet someone, but how? I am 40 years young, divorced or widowed three times and separated from my fourth for two years. My past marriages have taught me what men like — home cooking with plenty of gravy, beer in the fridge, a lounger chair of his own, a nipper on my mouth and lots of back rubs.

I like boyfriends but I don't know how to meet them. I just stay home and watch TV. — Lonely in Yonkers, New York

Dear Lonely in Yonkers: With four "better halfs" under your belt, you're the one who should be writing the Lonely Hearts column, honey. Go to the supermarket and chat up cute old coots. Ask them for their squash recipes.

How can I hook my dreamboat?

Dear Dotti: There is this boy in my school who is so gorgeous that I wanna pass out when he walks by.

All day, everyday, I think about him. He's my whole entire life. I just focus on him.

I wanna tell him how I feel but I get real shookes when I see him and sorta can't breathe straight. So, I got real brassy and slipped him my phone number but he never called.

Please give me some advice on how to have my pride and joy all to myself. — Wanna Be Emotional, New York

Dear Wanna Be Emotional: Wake up, cutie. Mr. Dream Lover has ate just like every other boy — and if you'd tickled his fancy, he'd have called you.

Dear Burly Bayside in Boise, Idaho: Being called rude by you is like being called ugly by a rangesteer.

Dear Takes a Licking in Dayton, Ohio: Next time old Dad unlimbers that belt, get a lawyer and sue the sucker for all he's got.

Dear Baby Lover in Fort Wayne, Ind.: That guy needs to be kept in training pants — and you're the one to do it.

Editors: Bald men are smarter? Ha!

I read that story in your paper this morning and I'm still laughing. Those hotshot scientists who came up with that conclusion never met my husband Claude, who's bald as a billiard ball and dumber than a banana split.

Claude's a carpenter and sometimes I wonder how he can remember which end of the nail to pound. I send him to the store for a dozen eggs and the idiot will come home with grapes and paper towels and hamburger and forget all about the eggs.

My sister Sharon lives with us and we both have college degrees and sharp minds and would like to improve our social status, but we can't because anytime we take crazy Claude anywhere with us he says something stupid and humiliates us.

We're always bugging him to take some courses and improve his mind but he'd rather watch Growing Pains. So there's no way you can tell me that bald men are smarter. No way! — Mrs. C.N., Miami, Fla.

Sorry, lady, but you've got it all wrong. Those scientists were talking about men who are naturally bald — not some poor sap whose bossy, bitchy wife drove him to pull all his hair out. — Editors

Man tries to save his buddy — and kills him!

Good Samaritan Ron Jefferson tried to save his best friend's life with CPR, but pressed too hard — and killed him.

By JACK ALEXANDER

Dead on arrival at a Paterson, N.J., hospital was Richard Harrington, 33. He died of a fractured sternum and rib which cut into his heart and liver.

"They were both drunk out of their minds and had a fight," said police detective Harold Pegg. "It ended with Harrington flat on his back on the ground.

"Jefferson gave his buddy mouth-to-mouth and then he tried CPR. It appears Harrington just passed out after the fight and wasn't near death."

Assistant prosecutor Martin Kayne said Harrington didn't die from injuries suffered in the fight. His heart was pierced by a rib during CPR, said Pegg.

The two men had been close buddies for more than 10 years and "routinely fought and made up when they were out boozing," said Pegg.

After his lifesaving attempts had failed, Jefferson phoned police for help. But his best friend was beyond help.

No charges will be filed against Jefferson even though the medical examiner's office has listed the death as a homicide.

"In this case we feel the death was accidental," said Pegg. "One man caused the death of another but it was in the course of a Good Samaritan deed."

Guilty conscience catches robber when FBI couldn't

Haunted by a guilty conscience, a bank robber surrendered to FBI agents who admit they probably never would have nabbed him otherwise.

Gene Berthiaume of Knoxville, Tenn., pleaded guilty in federal court to two counts of bank robbery and is now in jail awaiting sentencing.

The 25-year-old explained that he was broke and his girlfriend was pregnant when he picked up a hitchhiker who suggested they rob banks.

Berthiaume said he and the other man netted $9,000 from the bank heists in Chattanooga and Knoxville.

They split the money and bought a truck together, but after the other man stole the truck Berthiaume said he decided to give up his life of crime.

My name is Steve Clonts.

I must tell you how I came to possess the Ancient Secret of Power.

I was in the village of San Ignacio in the mountains of Belize. As I sat in a cafe, a young girl came to my table. Her clothes were ragged, but she was clean. "You must come" she said, "the old man wishes to give you a gift". I laughed. I knew no old man. No one knew I was there. "You must come, you must" she said. "The old man is waiting".

I decided to go with the girl. She led me to a clearing in the jungle. Then she left.

An old man appeared in the clearing. He was dressed white. He smiled and I knew we had much to talk about. As we sat in the clearing he began to speak.

Pregnant cow collapses on oldster

A pregnant cow crushed farmhand Frank Beeton's legs when she fell on him and then saved his life by keeping him warm from the freezing cold for five hours.

"Mr. Beeton would have suffered from exposure but for the cow to keep him warm," said one of the 10 Peppard, England, firemen who used ropes to move the cow.

Beeton, 83, was acting as midwife when the cow, exhausted from her labor, collapsed onto him.

Horse and buggy romance is still going strong

80 years of bliss

It's a pretty good bet that Henry and Jessie Hoffman will make a go of their marriage — now that they've been husband and wife for almost 80 years!

The loving couple will mark that incredible milestone — their 80th wedding anniversary — on September 6.

By DICK DONOVAN

On that date 80 years ago in 1908, 17-year-old Jessie and her 23-year-old beau Henry drove his horse and buggy to the United Brethren Church in Wren, Ohio, and exchanged marriage vows that are as strong today as they were then.

"I remember those vows," 98-year-old Jessie said. "To me, they were something to keep."

For Jessie, Henry was the only man in her life. "I never dated anyone else," she explained. But her mischievous 102-year-old hubby would like her to believe he was a real lady-killer before she came along.

"I danced with all the girls," he said with an impish twinkle in his eyes. "Yup, I liked 'em all." In 1914, Jessie and Henry traded in their horse and buggy for their first car, a Model T Ford.

"When we got that, we thought we were in heaven," Henry recalled.

During their 80 years together, the couple worked their farm together in Van Wert County, where they raised corn, potatoes, tomatoes, oats, five sons and two daughters.

Today, a family reunion would bring together nine grandsons, 10 granddaughters, 14 great-grandsons, 23 great-granddaughters, two great-great-grandsons and two great-great-granddaughters.

Jessie and Henry managed to live on their own until last November, when they decided to take life easy and moved into the Van Wert Manor Nursing Home.

LOVEBIRDS Henry and Jessie Hoffman look forward to their 80th anniversary in September.

What's the secret that kept them together for eight decades? Jessie says she has no clear-cut answer. "I can't explain it," she said. "We worked together on the farm, we raised our family together. We had a happy farm life and a close farm life. Sure, we had our troubles and our problems.

"But we were still a happy family."

Fancy poodle breeder charged with cruelty to animals

A doggone shame

By ROSE GRADY

A raid on the home of a brutal dog breeder revealed a scene of unimaginable horror where 34 starving poodles were found dying among the remains of countless pups that had suffered before them!

The raid was launched on the home of Dorothy Clifford in Lingfield, England, by rescuers from the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (RSPCA).

Of the 34 little poodles taken from the house — each one starving, emaciated and covered with feces — 12 later died or had to be put to sleep because of the cruel treatment they had endured.

Throughout the house the rescuers found the mummified remains of poodle females that had been discarded like so much garbage in cartons her puppies throughout Great Britain for $225 each and would only bother to brush, bathe and trim them when she had a definite buyer. Clifford was fined $150, was hit with an order to pay $3,000 to the RSPCA, and drew three terms of probation on her conviction on animal cruelty charges.

But there was a happy ending for a white poodle named Robbie, who was near death from starvation and was a stinking, filthy mess of matted hair when he was rescued by the RSPCA.

Robbie has since been transformed into a beautiful, happy pooch who has found love and protection as the pet of Jim

Tragic footnote!

An angry singer was convicted of killing a nightclub customer — who bared his sole.

Pongsak Trakulrat, 38, was singing in a Los Angeles Thai cabaret when Korakanh Pleansourinha propped his foot on a chair with his sole aimed at the entertainer.

The gesture is considered a grievous insult in southeast Asia.

When the nightclub closed, the singer followed the customer outside and shot him. Trakulrat faces 31 years to life in prison.

Pal stabs smoke blower, cops say

By JACK ALEXANDER

Non-smoking trucker Travis Hensley got mad when a pain-in-the-neck pal wouldn't stop blowing smoke in his face — and stabbed him three times, cops said.

Karl Morgan, 32, was taken to a hospital in West Memphis, Ark., with knife wounds in the neck, shoulder and mouth.

"They were having coffee at a truck stop just outside of town and got into an argument," said Police Sgt. G.B. Martin.

"One word led to another and Morgan commenced to blow cigarette smoke in Hensley's face," he said. "Witnesses said Hensley twice asked Morgan to stop, but it only made him do it all the more."

Witnesses said Hensley, 33, of Unicol, Tenn., whipped out a knife and solved the smoke problem, according to Martin.

Hensley was charged with battery in the first degree and released from a West Memphis jail after posting $500 bail.

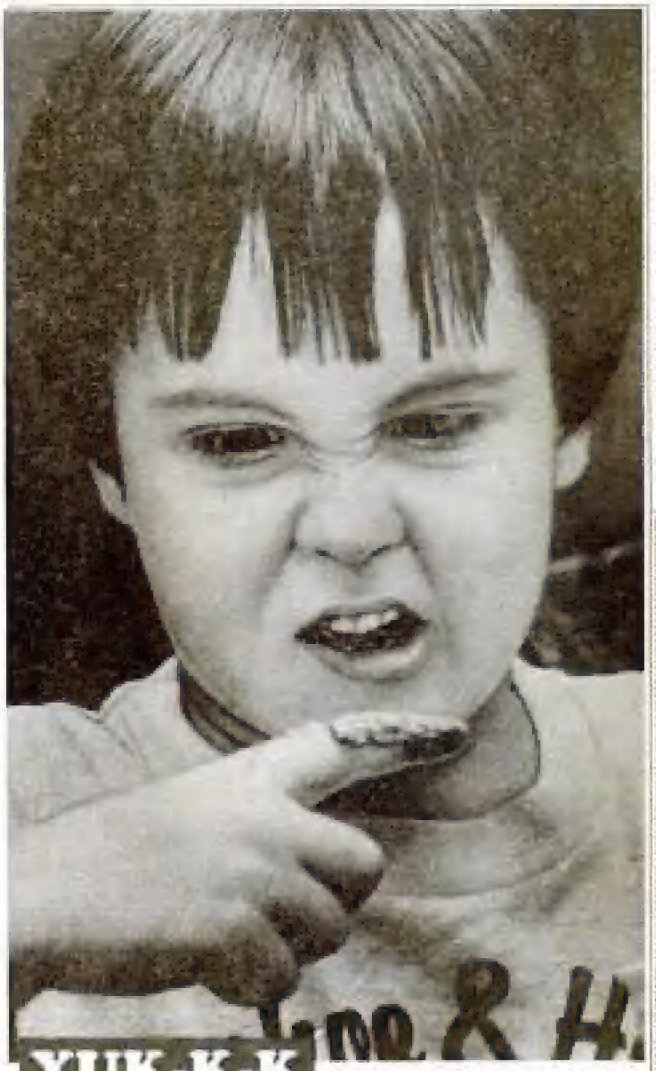
Morgan's wounds were not life-threatening.

Cat-eating rats bugging Iranians

Villagers in Chahbahar, Iran, are afraid to step out of their houses — because of an invasion of giant rats!

The monster rodents, weighing an average of 26 pounds, have killed and eaten cats and terrorized residents, according to the Tehran newspaper Kayhan.

Officials in the Gulf of Oman port town are waging an all-out war on the giant rats.



Some things a fella just hadn't ought to eat. That's the way 6-year-old Justin Brickmyer seems to feel as he looks at a fingerful of one of the offerings at an international foods festival at his school. Justin and his friends at an elementary school in Hawthorne, Fla., helped prepare tea cakes, fondue, breads and other foods from England, France, the Philippines and South America to introduce the kids to tastes different from what they are used to. The kids liked most of the foods.

SPACE PROBE TAKES PHOTOS

By IRWIN FISHER

Startling photographs shot by a Soviet space probe may be of heaven, a top German scientist reports.

"The pictures are remarkable in their similarity to what people have seen during near-death experiences," Dr. Kurt Bauer, the astrophysicist, told reporters in Magdeburg, Germany.

"When the series begins we see darkness gradually giving way to a rainbow-colored tunnel of light. The probe enters this tunnel.

"As it emerges we are met with an unearthly green and yellow landscape. In the distance we can see people filing through the gates of a great w... glitters und... light.

Man bids $100G for Elvis' old Army uniform

A Montreal man has been offered more than $100,000 for Elvis Presley's Army uniform.

David Scott, 25, an Elvis look-alike, was given the uniform by the Presley estate in honor of his portrayal of the King in the 1981 film This is Elvis.

Fred Polansky wants to buy Elvis' uniform to promote a Montreal-based chicken-and-ribs restaurant he owns.

Scott said he is also considering another offer.

Tight-lipped Russian officials would neither confirm nor deny Dr. Bauer's report. They did confirm that the expert had worked closely with Soviet space scientists since 1979 and acknowledged that "he would have access to photographs if they do exist."

The expert himself said the Soviets consider the photos top secret and have no intentions of releasing them in the foreseeable future.

"As atheists the Soviets are sensitive to any notion of an afterlife and they want all the answers before they make any kind of announcement," said Dr. Bauer.

"They certainly weren't looking for heaven with this probe. It was designed to photograph planets."

In fact, the probe had already passed Pluto and was headed for deep space when the stunning pictures were taken, said Dr. Bauer.

Attempts to re-establish communications with it have failed but will continue for several months, he said.

Marc Degois, the French parapsychologist, called Dr. Bauer's report "staggering in its implications."

"Men can hallucinate but cameras don't lie," he continued. "The truly amazing thing about all this is how closely the Soviet photos mirror the visual experiences of people who have died momentarily and been brought back to life.

"Scientists and doctors have long wondered whether those experiences were simply figments of the imagination.

"The Soviet photos, if genuine, prove conclusively that they are real.

"It's ironic that Soviet atheists would be the first to confirm the existence of an afterlife."

Life ain't easy for talon-ted housewife

How I care for my amazing fingernails

Lee Redmond, 46, has been making headlines with her incredible nine-inch talons, the highly polished and manicured meganails she's been growing for nine years.

But the real behind-the-scenes story is how blonde-haired Lee cares for her pride and joy, a major feat for the woman with such bizarre hands.

By SUSAN JIMISON

"They turn even the simplest chores into hard work, but I have no plans to cut them," said Lee, a housewife from Salt Lake City, Utah. "They're my fingernails and I love them.

"Caring for my nails is a 24-hour job. It takes me 7½ hours — and a full bottle of polish — to clean and polish just two nails. But I get my work done — and keep my nails, too."

Lee happily shares her secrets for tending her talons with anyone who asks. Here's a selection of fingernail facts she's revealed to the press over the years:

● To hold objects, Lee has to pinch them between her thumb and the first knuckle of her forefinger because her nails are too long to permit her to grasp things normally.

SIMPLE chores like ironing or opening a car door are a special challenge, says Lee.

● Lee sleeps on her back, with her left hand beside her head and her right hand hanging off the bed. "I try not to toss and turn," she said, "so I won't accidentally roll over and break a nail."

● During cold snaps, poor Lee has to shiver without an overcoat because all her clothing has to be made of stretchy material so she can get it over her nails.

● At bath time Lee avoids cutting herself with her talons by soaping down with the balls of her palms and her wrists.

● To drive, she wraps the nails around the steering wheel of her automatic transmission auto. She can't drive a car with manual transmission.

● Lee knuckles down to many tasks. "I learned to type using my knuckles," she said. She also uses her knuckles to dial a telephone, put in her contact lenses and turn lights on and off.

● How does she make love? Very carefully! Lee and her husband Don can't get too carried away or Don will look like he's been flayed alive by a tiger. "I put my arms up to my head so as not to scratch Don," Lee said.

LEARNING to use my hands was no easy feat, says Lee Redmond. "But these nails are my pride and joy."

Little kids hijack mom's car!

65-mile joyride ends at Mexican border

By JACK ALEXANDER

A pouting 10-year-old boy and his baby sister swiped their mother's car and tried to sell it — after driving 65 miles to the Mexican border.

"The youngster piled up a couple of pillows so he could see over the dashboard and drove from Tucson to Nogales, Ariz., along crowded Interstate 19," said Nogales police Capt. Antonio Estrada.

"We were amused that he did it, and then we became concerned when we realized what happened. It's pretty scary when you think about it," he said.

Amazing Andres Rascon said he took the '84 Chevy and drove away with his sister, Maria, 7, after an argument with his mom, said Estrada.

The adventurous 4-foot-6 youngster drove two hours in heavy traffic, reaching No. 1 Mexican border crossing, where he was alerted when the little tyke tried to sell his mom's car to a convenience store clerk.

"The two kids and their mother lived with their grandma," said Estrada.

"They waited until everyone was asleep and slipped out a window after taking the car keys and $20."

The pair pulled into an all-night convenience store in Nogales to buy soft drinks.

"The boy told us he learned to drive at the age of 6 sitting on his father's lap," said Estrada. "But this was the first time he had actually driven. Their mom came and got 'em. No charges are expected."

Worried mom Bertha Rascon met with her son, but said she scolded him two weeks earlier for watching too much TV. She speculated her son may have been going to Mexico to find his father. Neither the boy or his sister, however, knows his address, she said.

"But he's a very responsible little boy," said Mrs. Rascon.

Kindhearted boss forgives man who swipes $631,500

By JACK ALEXANDER

A bighearted businessman turned the other cheek and let the crook off the hook after the trusted employee stole $631,500 from his company.

"I want peace of mind," said forgiving boss Ronald Blair. "There was no way I was going to get the money back anyway."

Blair, 54, dropped fraud charges in a Montreal court against his former controller, Frederick Lackman, 36, who embezzled the money and gambled it away.

"I don't think jail is going to do him any good," Blair told the judge. "This way, at least he's making good progress in changing his life for the better."

I wasn't getting the money back, anyway

Lackman testified he spent virtually every penny on his compulsive gambling habit and kept stealing to cover his losses. The former company controller has moved to Toronto, found a new job and is seeking psychiatric help. He had pleaded guilty to a fraud charge brought by the Crown.

The embezzlement was discovered soon after community-minded Blair learned that his wife of 35 years had lung cancer and only a few weeks to live.

She lived long enough to see the opening of the couple's hotel in Knowlton, a restored 1864 inn. He also owns two companies, two houses, a Mercedes and a 22-foot Lincoln Continental. His companies now have assets in excess of $10 million with 85 employees.

"I believe if you have the drive and the determination, it could bring you a lot of money," he said. "You have to love people and you have to be an early riser.

"Life's been good to me. It's important to give back to life what it has given you."

MERCIFUL millionaire Ronald Blair says he's as forgiving in the workplace as he is in his private life.

Dog eats baby

A stray dog strolled into a hospital, grabbed a newborn baby from its mother's arms and ate it. Doctors in West Bengal, India, said the infant was devoured by the mongrel in a nearby forest.

Doomed AIDS man stole $million for last blast, say cops

By RAFE KLINGER

Bank manager William Debenport decided to go out with a bang when he learned he was dying of AIDS — so he fudged accounts and went on a million-dollar spending spree, says his attorney.

First Texas Savings and Loan in Dallas claims Debenport slipped some $1.7 million out of their accounts and into his own, said attorney Steve Cooper.

With that money, the branch bank manager bought himself a large home in a ritzy neighborhood, a Lincoln Town Car and even started a home for AIDS victims with a $175,000 donation. When people asked, Debenport said he'd just inherited a bunch of bucks from an oil-rich granny who'd died.

"He did things to help himself and donated money to charity and to help friends and family," said Cooper.

Debenport has pleaded guilty to three of the 15 counts of misappropriation he was charged with and faces 15 years in the slammer, said the attorney. On the bright side, he got a new diagnosis and while he does have AIDS, it's not in the final stages and his death is no longer imminent.

Cooper said more than $1 million of the stolen money has been returned.

Debenport's money madness began AIDS and told the bank manager he had just three months to live.

Debenport made checks out from First Texas and deposited them in his own account at another bank. The roof, patio, plumbing, tile, a pool and a major entertainment area.

"All I can say is I was led to believe he inherited a lot of money," said builder Joe E. Moore IV, who claimed Debenport owed him $99,000 in labor and materials.

Acquaintances said Debenport was driving a new Lincoln and had a big diamond ring on his finger. He also gave $175,000 to an AIDS group to found the area's first home for AIDS victims and also donated several thousand dollars to a church known for having a large gay congregation.

When Debenport was found out, he

Motorist goes batty!

The driver of a baby blue Mercedes beat a man with a baseball bat for trying to clean his windshield at a stop light!

Witnesses in New York City told police that the unidentified male driver warned 47-year-old Eldred Leitze to stay away from his car but Leitze tried to wipe off the windshield for spare change anyway. The driver promptly pulled to the curb, produced a bat and cracked Leitze in the back of his head.

When the injured man slumped to the pavement with blood pouring out of his mouth, nose and ears, the driver of the Mercedes got behind the wheel and calmly drove away.

Leitze was hospitalized in critical condition after the attack. Cops are looking for the driver of the Mercedes that had a New Jersey plate.

Tragic teen's fatal hangup

Teen Jason Wear watched the Clint Eastwood movie Hang 'em High on TV — then hanged himself!

The 17-year-old was found by his dad dangling from the ceiling of the kitchen at their Bristol, England, home. He had just watched Hang 'em High in which Eastwood exacts revenge on a gang that tried to lynch him. The movie shows nine hangings.

Jason's father, Brian Wear, told police his son loved Clint Eastwood films and often videotaped them. The boy died six hours after the late-night movie broadcast ended.

The kooky ape is being shipped from an animal park in New Hampshire to a zoo in Gulf Breeze, Fla., so he'll be closer to his shrink.

World's most powerful psychic can make her dreams come true

By IRWIN FISHER

Toni Lars can shape reality just by imagining the way she wants things to be. And leading scientists confirm that her wishes and dreams all come true!

"Mrs. Lars is one of a handful of people who can affect the external world with the power of thought alone," Dr. Peter Straat told reporters in Amsterdam, Holland.

"When she wants something to happen, no matter how big or small, it does."

Mrs. Lars, 36, didn't always have such amazing talent. According to psychologist Straat, she was just an ordinary secretary until she suffered a blow to the head in a car wreck in 1983.

"The change was immediate and dramatic," he said. "After the accident she found that she was daydreaming much more than usual.

"The odd thing was that her daydreams eventually came to pass in the real world. She was single at the time with no prospect of marriage. Less than two weeks later she was engaged to a man she met in a grocery store. She also won a sweepstakes prize that enabled her to buy a new car.

Expert confirms: 'She thinks it — and it happens!'

"Several days before the lease on her apartment expired a distant cousin willed her a home six short blocks away."

Weeks passed before Mrs. Lars realized that her good fortune was more than a coincidence. At that point she began to hone her skills by practicing. Before long she found that she could sit in an easy chair all day long and still take care of everything she wanted or needed to do.

"If she wants to watch television her husband or a friend will invariably show up and turn it on without being asked," said Dr. Straat.

"If she needs a little spending money she usually looks no farther than her mailbox. The woman has more contest wins and inheritances than anyone I've ever heard of."

Dr. Straat says the woman's strange talent "is quite rare but not unheard of."

"There are five people alive today who can do what she does," he continued. "But like psychic ability itself, it is

STRESS MAKES WHOOPEE BETTER

Stress may be good for something after all, according to researchers who have discovered that stress intensifies sexual desire.

"The flow of adrenaline triggered by stress creates a physical tension that, in the right amounts, your body can translate into sexual arousal," said Dr. David Barlow in a recent article for Mademoiselle magazine.

"Research shows that if you experience something stressful during the day and then go home and engage in sex, your sexual desire may actually be enhanced," said Dr. Barlow, who is the director for stress and Anxiety Disorders

RIPPING YARNS ABOUT GRISLY KILLER JACK

By RAFE KLINGER

London cops and British bigwigs knew the identity of that country's most feared and bloodthirsty killer — Jack the Ripper — but covered it up for 100 years.

That's the astounding claim of top TV producer David Wickes, who is making a spine-tingling new miniseries about the knife-wielding butcher of women.

New evidence blows lid off 100-year-old coverup

Wickes says that London's famed Scotland Yard and the government's Home Office knew who The Ripper was, but hid that information and never brought the phantom killer to justice.

He plans to unveil the shocking secret in his miniseries starring Michael Caine next fall. Some of the prime suspects of the 1888 mass murderer, who terrorized London by chopping up six prostitutes in three months, include a nobleman, a lawyer, two doctors and even a woman.

The Ripper's reign of terror began Aug. 7, 1888, when the gruesomely slashed body of prostitute Martha Turner was found under a pile of rags on a doorstep.

The killings continued over the next month, each more gruesome and sickening than the one before.

The sicko killer's favorite method of dispatching the helpless women was to slash their throats and then hack up their bodies removing organs and parts and placing them around the corpse. One victim was so horribly butchered that even a doctor's assistant — used to surgery — became sick and vomited at the sight.

One witness to the September 7 killing of Annie Chapman, 47, recalls driving his cart down the street and seeing a crowd gathered round something.

"I jumped off, being a lad, and joined the crowd and there she was, all her entrails steaming hot," he recalled some 70 years later. "She had red and white stockings on."

In one grisly letter he wrote to a newspaper, The Ripper apologized for using red ink instead of blood because the "proper stuff went thick like glue and I can't use it."

In another letter to a vigilante committee sworn to get him, The Ripper also sent half a kidney from his latest victim. He said he'd fried the other half and eaten it.

Some people believe The Ripper was from a powerful aristocratic family which is why police and officials covered up the identity. These people claim the killer was the Duke of Clarence, the oldest son to the future King of England. The son was supposedly bisexual and half mad with syphilis.

NEWSPAPER CARTOONISTS illustrated the fear and horror that gripped London in 1888 during Jack the Ripper's reign.

Live in Mexico on $14 a Day

One million Americans live in Mexico—more than any other place in the world. Why do so many Americans live in Mexico? Here's why:

- Living costs—They are ridiculously low. Recent peso devaluations make Mexico one of the cheapest places to live in the entire world. Many Americans live comfortably on a small pension or social security.
- The climate—it's comfortable year round. And most parts of Mexico are unspoiled with beautiful, clear, warm waters; green mountains; and colorful flowers.
- Live in a community of other Americans. There are many retirement havens in Mexico—only a short distance from the U.S.—where Americans live comfortably on a minimal income.

The book Living Easy in Mexico describes American retirement communities throughout Mexico. It covers all retirement havens—lakeside villages nestled in the mountains, sleepy fishing villages alongside the ocean, and modern cities having a large community of Americans. The book tells you how to get to these retirement havens, the Americans living there, climate, cost of living, housing, recreation, advantages, disadvantages, and which communities to avoid.

The book gives you practical facts on living in Mexico—health care, laws, travel, customs, food and water, selecting a home, making extra money. The author spent 30 years living and traveling throughout Mexico. The book contains plenty of photographs so you can see for yourself the beauty of these retirement havens. Whatever kind of retirement living you want, Mexico has something to offer you.

Living in Mexico is cheap. For about $14 a day each, two people can live in a spacious home, eat good food, have a cook, housekeeper and gardener, and still have money left over for entertainment or savings.

If you're fed up with high living costs, bad weather, congestion, pollution, too much stress and tension, consider Mexico as tens of thousands of Americans are already doing.

Get all the facts. Order Living Easy in Mexico today. Send only $12.95 plus $1 postage and handling to: United Research Publishers, 103 North Highway 101, Dept. MT-1, Encinitas, CA 92024. You can return the book within 30 days for full refund if not

Wild & wacky gator tales

By DEREK CLONTZ

Florida's alligators do the darndest things. Here's a rundown from the Miami Herald's Tropic magazine:

● In New Port Richey, a gator trotted onto a softball field and took over the shortstop's position.

When players tried to run him off with a Jeep, he bit off the taillight.

● On Marco Island, a gator swiped golf balls off fairways after a resident stopped feeding him his favorite snack — marshmallows.

● Former Gov. Bob Graham literally had to jump for his life when a gator crashed a lawn party and tried to bite off his leg.

● In Sarasota, a gator chased a woman out of the ladies' room at a fancy bar.

● In Immokalee, a 12-foot bull gator ate a woman's blue-tick hound for lunch — and her beagle for dessert.

Explained one gator expert: "A gator will only take being barked at for so long."

● An airboat full of tourists reported that the high point of their Everglades trip was the appearance of a pink alligator.

"He was kind of attractive, for a gator," said Elsie Beswick.

A reptile farmer claims he's seen the critters in shades of white, yellow and black.

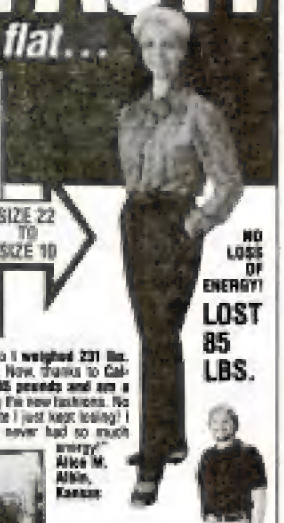
"I LOST 85 LBS. FAST!

and went from size 22 to size 10 in no time flat...

WITHOUT DIETING"

GUARANTEED to work for you too!



DIET DISCOVERY ASTOUNDS SCIENTIFIC COMMUNITY!

In what is being acclaimed a "major breakthrough", a group of European scientists have recently discovered a powerful new weight-loss formula that causes rapid weight loss without dieting. The discovery was made while researchers at the University of Kuopio, in Finland, were searching for a compound to lower cholesterol. In a test group of people who took the formula, cholesterol levels remained unchanged but doctors were astounded to find that every patient had lost a significant amount of weight!

ACTUALLY SUPPRESSES ABSORPTION OF CALORIES!

Medical researchers quickly discovered that this new formula actually alters the way your body digests food. When taken before mealtime it bonds with the food you eat and "ties up" calories, preventing their absorption. So a substantial portion of the ingested calories pass through and out of the digestive system unabsorbed. Even though you eat as much as you want, a rapid weight loss occurs, as your body burns fat to replace those lost (unabsorbed) calories.

CLINICALLY TESTED

Further medical tests of the new formula have been made in Sweden at Sahlgrens Hospital, University of Gotenborg. Results published in the BRITISH JOURNAL OF NUTRITION stated: "Body weight was significantly reduced during the study even though the patients were specifically asked not to alter their dietary habits." This new compound is so powerful, so effective and so relentless in its attack on bulging deposits of fatty tissue that it has virtually eliminated the need for dieting or torturous exercise."

PROVEN SAFE/EFFECTIVE

After exhaustive testing, the new compound was determined to be safe and was formulated into one of the most effective weight-reducing pills of all time. This revolutionary formulation is being marketed in the United States under the trade name Cal-Ban 3000™. It is now available without a prescription from Anderson Pharmacals, which holds exclusive North American rights to Cal-Ban 3000™. Cal-Ban 3000™ is derived from a 100% natural plant source and contains no drugs or stimulants.

EAT ALL YOU WANT AND KEEP LOSING!

Cal-Ban 3000™ allows you to continue to eat and enjoy as much of your favorite foods as you want. All you have to do is to remember to take your Cal-Ban 3000™! Some best case histories report losing up to 8 pounds of fat and fluid in the first 72 hours! Dissolving away up to 15 pounds the first week and dropping up to 40 pounds of fat the first month! Others have continued to lose up to 50, 60 and 80 or more pounds.

ACT NOW TO CHANGE YOUR LIFE!

Now you can transform your body into a slender, more youthful figure with ease. You can become the trim, attractive man or woman who is admired by everyone! Some Cal-Ban 3000™ users have reported losing a full dress size in one week...2 dress sizes in 14 days! You'll feel great about yourself when you see how good you look in stylish new clothes! Pet massacre ordered by spinster's will

Animal lovers in Great Britain are up in arms over the senseless execution of 30 pets — a massacre that was carried out under the terms of their late owner's will!

Spinster Bridget Chadwick had ordered that on her death, her six ponies, a dog, a cat and 22 pet chickens were to be put to sleep because she feared they wouldn't be properly cared for when she was gone.

Fury erupted when the dead woman's sister, Susan Newman, summond a vet to Miss Chadwick's Riding School in Alderly Edge, England, where the pets were destroyed, one after the other.

Protestors labeled the family "murderers" and neighbor Rowan Kay branded the slaughter "unnecessary and callous."

Guys STILL go ga-ga over bump-and-grind granny

70-year-old stripper: 'They can't take their eyes off me!'

FABULOUS Fleta is baffo with her feather boa!

GLIDE IN HER STRIDE: Fleta does a spin.

SENIOR STRIPPER Fleta Davidson unzips, dips and flashes her hips in a dazzling move. And the crowd loves every minute of her show!

By JOE BERGER

Dynamo oldster Fleta Davidson used to take off behind the wheel of a diesel-belching semi. Today the go-get-'em granny takes it all off — as the world's only sizzling, 70-year-old stripper!

To tell the truth, fun-loving Fleta doesn't bump and grind all the way down to her baggy birthday suit when she entertains the troops around Springfield, Ill.

But the former truck-driving mama unveils enough furrowed flesh to bring whoops and hollers from even the most hardened audience.

"I may not be as young as I used to be, but they still stare when I take off my clothes," frisky Fleta told The NEWS.

"In fact, some folks can't take their eyes off me."

The silver-haired hoofer struts her stuff for an outfit called Especially for You Dancing Strip-O-Gram, which provides peelers of all shapes and sizes for birthday bashes and other shindigs.

And it was Strip-O-Gram owner Marilyn Bernhardt who helped the five-wire lady see all she could gain by doffing her duds so late in life.

"Fleta was cleaning house for me one afternoon when somebody called and wanted a very obese stripper for a party," Marilyn recalled. "But unfortunately, I didn't have one that fat.

"Then I thought of Fleta and asked them how about a 70-year-old stripper, and they thought that would be great.

"When I talked to Fleta about it she said I was crazy — until I told her there was $20 in it for her. That changed her mind fast."

Since then, the sagging siren has entertained at more than a dozen wild and woolly wingdings.

Swinging and swaying to music straight from the roaring '20s, Fleta slowly flings aside her feather boa, slips out of her long black sleeves, tugs off her tight-fitting top and shimmies out of her ruffled skirt. The 5-foot-2 temptress ends her seven-minute act clad in a clinging black leotard and mesh stockings.

"Some people might laugh but I really get a kick out of it," said the impish oldster. "I love watching the way other people watch me."

CHINESE HAVE ROTTEN TEETH

At least half of China's billion people have rotten teeth and many have never even used a toothbrush!

The respected China Consumer News reported that 80 percent of the people have mouth ulcers and only half of all households have toothbrushes.

In many areas, the Peking paper claimed, the toothbrush isn't used for cleaning teeth — it's used as a decoration in the home!

Killer fish bite off vacationers' fingers

Piranhas bit dozens of vacationers before they got the message and turned one of Brazil's most popular resorts into a ghost town!

"The fish bit off nipples, fingers and other chunks of flesh," said Ramino Toledo, an agronomist on the team assigned to get rid of piranhas at San Churi Lake resort.

The expert and his associates plan to use ox blood to lure the fish to the lake's surface, where they will be stunned with a plant-based anesthetic and netted.

Thirsty customer opens bar — with 12-gauge shotgun

By DICK DONOVAN

Booze-guzzling bothead Joe Harrison was so desperate for a drink that when he found his favorite saloon locked, he opened the door with his own special "key" — a 12-gauge shotgun!

But after Joe blasted the door to smithereens, he staggered to the bar to find a real surprise.

An off-duty cop was inside waiting to haul him off to the slammer.

The off-duty cop had been sitting inside, chatting with the new owner of The Horse and Well Pub in Woodford, England.

Poor Joe, 36, was handed a two-year suspended sentence by the judge.

He was also ordered to pay the pub $940 in damages.

The pub was closed because the new owner had decided to open for business an hour later than it did under the old ownership.

Joe hasn't had a drink since he pulled off his shotgun shenanigan.

Tough judge gives rapist 1,540 years

Convicted serial rapist William Michael may find a lot of changes in the world when he gets out of prison — in the year 3528!

A judge in Phoenix, Ariz., sentenced 35-year-old Michael to 1,540 years on 61 felony charges that included the rapes of 15 women in less than a two-year period.

But there was one ray of light for Michael, who had prior convictions for sexual assault, burglary and escape — he could have been sent up for 1,830 years.

Mad monkeys wait in ambush to get man who killed their pal

The revenge of the angry apes

By JOE BERGER

Jolted motorist Ahmed Aweidha got the shock of his life when he accidentally ran down a monkey in the road — and the dead fellow's heartbroken buddies tried to tear him to shreds!

"There were little monkeys swarming all over my car, screeching and kicking and pounding it with their fists," the trembling businessman told reporters at Al Kharj, Saudi Arabia.

"They nearly beat my automobile to bits. If they had gotten inside, I have no doubt they'd have killed me."

But amazingly, the hopping mad monkeys didn't attack Ahmed at the time he ran over their pitiful pal. They waited until he made a return trip along the same road — eight hours later!

"I don't know how they remembered me but they did," said the dumbfounded father of four. "They recognized my car and they came after me with murder in their eyes."

Ahmed's bone-chilling adventure began as he drove to examine a new irrigation project.

"All of a sudden I saw a whole gang of monkeys playing by the side of the road," he recalled.

"Then one little guy scooted out in front of me and I hit him going very fast.

"His body flew through the air and landed far off to the side.

"I stopped to look and when they saw me they charged," Ahmed said. "They were pounding at the windows and jumping up and down on the roof. They ripped off my outside mirrors and tore away chrome strips and shattered my windshield.

"I was terrified because I knew they really wanted to maybe two dozen of them, gathered around him, shrieking and crying like old women at a wake. I knew there was nothing I could do so I drove on, feeling very bad."

And incredibly, when the 34-year-old engineering consultant drove along the same remote road on his way home, the grief-stricken monkeys were still there, crying over the body of their ill-starred sidekick.

"I was terrified because I knew they really wanted to make them angrier. Finally I got the car started and drove away on two flat tires. I had to drive a mile down the road before I shook them off — and I drove another five miles before I had the courage to stop and repair my tires.

"I never had thought of a little monkey as a fearsome animal, but I hope I never meet one of them again."

Absentminded oldster was driving his family crazy

$1.25M lottery winner loses ticket 3 times!

By RAFE KLINGER

After winning a $1.25 million lottery jackpot, Florentino Santiago kept driving his family bonkers — by losing the ticket three times before he could cash it in.

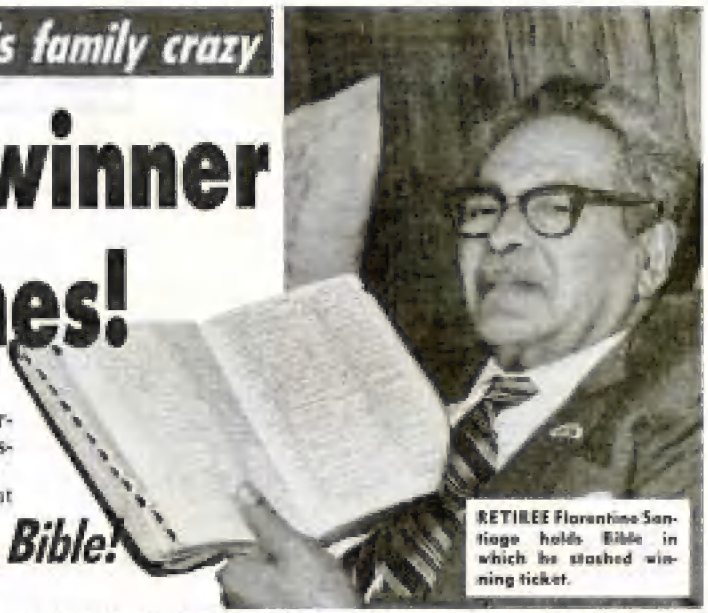
"It was a terrible thing," said Florentino's wife Carmen, 62. "What we had to keep going through. He was driving us crazy.

"He's always losing his keys. He's always losing everything."

Carmen says her 77-year-old husband has been misplacing things all through their 42-year marriage. But nothing was as critical as the winning lottery ticket that will pay them $47,000 a year after taxes for the next 20 years.

Florentino, a retired shoe store owner who lives in Queens, N.Y., Carmen, their son David and his wife were thrilled with the lottery win January 16. But it took them two and a half months to claim the pot because Florentino kept misplacing the ticket.

He finally finds it in his Bible!



RETIREE Florentino Santiago holds Bible in which he stashed winning ticket.

The first time he misplaced the ticket, it took his family a week to find it.

And they had to tear apart his house.

"We went through shirts, pants, pockets, papers, drawers," said Carmen. "He had a drawer filled with all those old lottery tickets and we had to go through each one.

"We finally found it in a pillow."

After finding it, Florentino put it in another good hiding place — and forgot where it was.

After another long, exhaustive search, he found it where he'd put it — in his Bible.

His family made him put it in a safety-deposit box and then Carmen took off for Miami to visit family.

"I planned to go for a month, but I didn't get to stay for a week," she sighed.

You guessed it. Florentino had misplaced the key.

"He thought I had taken it. He made me come back because he couldn't find it."

The keys were found in a closet.

Finally, Florentino went with his son to the lottery office and put the ticket in the safest hands — with lottery officials.

Lorraine Choquette and Micheline Desjardins have filed a civil suit claiming they got frostbite during a school camping trip — back in 1966!

The two women were among eight students who became lost during a hike near Sherbrooke, Canada, 22 years ago. They suffered so badly from the severe cold that after they reached safety doctors considered amputating their feet. Now the women have begun to suffer a disease caused by the frostbite that is causing the bones of their feet to degenerate and they want a total of $302,000 in compensation from the church officials who organized the hike.

Sports fan fowls out!

A fed up hockey fan showed his distaste for the losing Los Angeles Kings by tossing a live chicken onto the ice, say cops.

"The guy just tossed the live chicken wearing a purple uniform onto the ice right during the game," said police Lt. Robert Westlake.

"Apparently he wasn't happy with how the Kings were playing, which is understandable."

Teacher Pam Townsend is weary from constantly seeing double in her classroom.

Incredibly, the first grade teacher at the Canvey Island Junior School in Essex, England, has six sets of twins in her room.

"It's terribly confusing," she sighed. "I have never come across a situation like this in all my experience as a teacher."

The twin-tacular situation has the rest of the teachers in school just as mixed up. "It is virtually impossible to spot the difference," sighed Sheila Clark, another of the teachers. "I can tell the difference between one of the pairs of twins because ... one has fair hair and one is slightly darker.

"And I have discovered that one of the two girl twins has a small mole on her nose." But school Headmaster Paul Haisman-Baker has even more problems — because there are five more sets of twins attending the school, making a grand total of 11 pairs of problems.

"I was absolutely stunned when I realized that all these children were coming to us," he said.

Miss Clark seems to have the solution to the problem. "I just call out a name and wait and see who turns around."

Schoolboy parlays his $5 lunch money into $170G

By JOE BERGER

He sneaked into the track & bet long shots

Mischievous schoolboy Bobby Tidy sneaked into a racetrack to bet his lunch money on the ponies — and picked so many winners he waltzed away with a whopping $170,000.

"It was beautiful ... sensational," jubilant Bobby, 16, told reporters in Sydney, Australia.

"I just kept playing 'em and the money kept rolling in. I couldn't lose. I went there to have fun — I just never dreamed I'd have this much fun." But Lady Luck jilted the greenhorn gambler hours later when his dumbfounded dad laid down the law — and whisked away all his winnings.

"He'll get his money back when the time is right," said Colin Tidy, a bookie in a land where bookmaking is a proud and proper profession.

"Heaven knows, there's nothing wrong with playing the horses," added the secretly pleased papa. "But the law says you have to be 18 and into the tracks and gambling with his lunch money."

Baby-faced Bobby said he slipped into the track clutching his $5 in folding money one Saturday after noticing a nag he wanted to bet among the afternoon's entries.

"I bet my horse and he won going away," the whiz kid said.

"So I started handicapping the next race and I put my money down and sure enough, I won that one, too.

"I just kept betting and kept winning. I've been hear-

"When the races were over that day I was so far ahead I sneaked back in the next day. I was betting long shots and I was betting favorites — anything I thought could win. When the weekend was over, I counted my money and I had parlayed my $5 into $170,000."

Then the hotshot handicapper played his only loser of the weekend.

"I was so excited I rushed home to tell my dad what I'd done," he said. "That's when

Study shines light on kids' fear of the dark

By JACK ALEXANDER

Little boys are just as scared of the dark as little girls, says a new survey by the magazine Children.

Sixty percent of the kids between the ages of 3 and 6 whose parents answered the survey said darkness gave the youngsters the creeps.

And little girls are no more susceptible to fears than boys, as had been the case in the past, according to the magazine.

"This is a very common fear but probably not universal," said New York University psychology professor Lawrence Balter about the dark.

"Some kids hate it. Others can't sleep without it."

Electrical storms, earthquakes, tornadoes and other natural disasters spooked 43 percent of the youngsters. Monsters and ghosts haunted 42 percent of the children and animals and insects gave 41 percent the willies.

A whopping 50 percent of the little tykes are afraid of being alone.

Their reactions over their fear ranged from nervous to terrified.

Children develop the most fears between the ages of 2 and 6 years old, the magazine said.

These fears are replaced by other fears as they grow older — fear of death, school and peer rejection.

Doctors and dentists are frightening to many youngsters.

Kids also fear strangers, nightmares, Halloween masks, loud noises and broken homes.

But little boys had just as many fears as the girls.

Traffic overkill!

Three vans and a pickup truck ran over Janell Bankhead as she crossed a street. Drivers said they didn't see the 25-year-old woman — who died from her injuries — because it was dark, Houston cops report.

Rat race dropouts live on $20 a month

Back to nature!

RELAXED Doc and Sara Jo Littleton enjoy life in the woods.

Doc and Sara Jo Littleton turned their backs on fast-paced modern life 30 years ago — and they haven't been out of the woods since.

The elderly pair live off the land now, growing and gathering nearly all of their food. They depend on nature for the medicine they need, roaming the woods and fields near their isolated Alabama home to find roots and herbs and berries.

By SUSAN JIMISON

"We're happy out here among the snakes and owls," said Littleton, 73, who gave up a teaching job to move to Woodland Grove, Ala., back in 1938. "It's been fun. We have children, but none of them has shown any interest in this lifestyle."

The couple make some money every year selling homemade goods like pea hull jelly, hot pepper jelly, corn cob jelly and roasting ear jelly. They also gather and sell gourds and smoke hams and sausage at holiday time.

But they don't need much cash to stay happy and healthy — about $20 a month is all, enough to buy their coffee, flour and salt.

"We know how to cook dandelions 26 ways," Sara Jo, 61, said proudly. "We can bake them, boil them, fry them and stew them.

"We pick alderberries to make wine pies. You can also make Kool-Aid from them. What's really good is to break the stems off and cook them in hot grease. They taste just like pretzels."

"My mother was a full-blooded Creek Indian who taught me a lot about living according to nature's guide," Littleton said proudly.

The Littletons are in excellent health for their ages but even when they do fall ill, they depend on the old ways for treatment. A soup of chickweed root, weeping sumac leaves and the peel of an orange will cure almost anything, Littleton says.

"I haven't spent but $2.50 on medicine on my wife since 1958," he said. "Eating the inside of a pumpkin seed daily provides all the vitamins you need," added Sara Jo.

Gambling addicts are just big kids

Compulsive gamblers may suffer from a hormone deficiency that causes their out-of-control behavior, a leading expert reports.

Psychologist Peter Carlton studied 100 compulsive gamblers for four years and found that EEG readings of their brain activity was almost like that of hyperactive children.

"I don't think you'll ever be able to cure pathological gambling with a magic bullet," said Carlton of Robert Wood Johnson Medical School in Piscataway, N.J.

"But there are certainly drugs that will augment serotonin and may turn out to be useful adjuncts to the recovery process and withdrawal from gambling."

Push-up king crowned

Whitey Bloom became the world push-up king by doing 32,770 of them in 24 hours, beating the old record by 197.

Bloom, a junior high teacher in Juneau, Alaska, said he owed it all to the 60 friends and supporters who stood by him during the record-setting performance.

"The last couple of hours they were really cheering me on," he said. "I was just dog tired and I'm not sure I would have made it without them."

GIANT HOROSCOPE

By Countess Sophia Sabak

ARIES

Mar. 21-Apr. 19

Keep your sights set on long-range goals while avoiding road-blocks that may suddenly pop up in your path. Detours will only make the Aries' road to success that much more interesting.

First impressions could prove to be very significant in the week ahead and you should use your sense of intuition to the fullest.

You may soon have the opportunity to settle a simmering family dispute before it reaches the boiling point.

TAURUS

Apr. 20-May 20

An interesting new challenge may be coming your way in the week ahead and you should prepare to meet this test.

That Taurus tendency to be too stubborn could lead to problems in the near future, but you can avoid trouble by simply striving to see the other guy's point of view.

Long-standing plans may change suddenly, but you can still succeed by looking for something positive in unfortunate circumstances. Examine your options carefully.

GEMINI

May 21-June 20

Be prepared to accept everything that takes place with good grace this week and be willing to change direction completely — at home and at work if necessary.

It would be wise not to let others know your plans or intentions. There are still things you must iron out before taking any plunge.

Your Gemini cheerfulness will prompt friends and lovers to go out of their way to help, encourage and support you. Pleasant feelings are in store.

CANCER

June 21-July 22

The focus this week is on communication and a letter, phone call or face-to-face meeting should bring welcome news. As a Cancerian, you can't help but be receptive.

It's time to come to terms with a situation that occurred a long time ago. This may be a very decisive time in your life. Be cautious!

Set the weekend aside to handle the boring tasks you've been sidetracking.

Get it all behind you, then have a bit of fun.

LEO

July 23-Aug. 22

That fiery Leo nature can get you into one heck of a mess with family or friends this week if you don't bite your tongue. The gripe you have is legitimate, but it's not worth hurting feelings of close ones to prove you are in the right.

Stars highlight money and good fortune toward the end of the week. Take a chance and it just might pay dividends. It's a good time for serious investment.

Wear blue on the weekend for extra luck.

VIRGO

Aug. 23-Sept. 22

Virgo's ability to size up folks comes in handy this week as you are thrust into a new situation and must learn to cope with new people instantly.

Your talent enables you to avoid the pitfall of being taken for a sucker by some smooth-talking sharpie.

Congratulations — your hard work has earned you praise from higher-ups and friends and some well-deserved pats on the back for a job well-done.

LIBRA

Sept. 23-Oct. 22

So you've been dreaming about hitting the big time? Well, this is the perfect week to get off your duff and do something about it. A little concerted effort now could go a long way toward beefing up your bankroll and showing off your talents to those whose opinions count. The key word this week is action.

A late-night phone call could bring a major change in your lifestyle. Make the most of it.

Good things come in big packages this week.

SCORPIO

Oct. 23-Nov. 21

There's a creative genius bottled up inside you, and this is the ideal week to turn him loose. Pay attention to dreams, the daily news and even casual conversation — because there are ideas out there that could set you on the road to riches. It's important to listen, make plans and then follow through.

Your Scorpio loyalty could get you in trouble where a new friend is concerned. Proceed with caution.

Something black may wipe away your blues.

SAGITTARIUS

Nov. 22-Dec. 21

A once bitter enemy is beginning to see things your way and it wouldn't be a bad idea to cultivate a friendship — on your terms, of course.

Letters bring eagerly awaited information and possibly even a handsome check. What appears to be a health problem is nothing of the sort. Chances are your mind is working overtime, tricking you into thinking you're sick!

Your famous Sagittarius compassion can serve you well this week.

CAPRICORN

Dec. 23-Jan. 19

Luck is with you this week, Capricorn. Coupled with your legendary capacity for perseverance and hard work you shouldn't have any trouble making it pay off in a big way.

Dreams may provide the solution to a personal problem of long-standing. Trust your instincts and act quickly.

Spirits lift as the week progresses. The time you give to others is not only appreciated — it's soon going to be recognized in a most unusual and fulfilling way!

If your birthday is this week . . .

The year ahead could be the most challenging and rewarding ever. A change of job, career or your life's work is all but assured. Romantically, you'll be called on to make one of the most important decisions of your life.

Strangers seem to appear at every turn. If smart, you'll cultivate their friendship. The unlikeliest people you meet are apt to be the most capable and influential. They can help you a great deal if you let them.

A lucky streak begins in late June or early July and runs through Labor Day — at least.

AQUARIUS

Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Why not stop being cold and aloof and show some of the good sides of an Aquarius? Be more tolerant. Give people more room for error. And take a good look in the mirror and see what's really there.

Be ready for some good times that may come your way this week. Put a little money aside, get your bags packed and let the good times roll.

A profitable financial opportunity that could alter your life may arise this week. Get sound advice and don't hesitate.

PISCES

Feb. 19-Mar. 20

It's Pisces' nature to be unselfish, but sometimes you do it at the expense of your own feelings. It's not wrong to put yourself first occasionally.

You feel secure in your personal life, but a change may occur this week that could lead to dramatic circumstances. Be cool and calm. Act carefully.

The week ahead may be more enjoyable if you plan carefully, but leave a little room for the unexpected.

They deprived him of 'non-being'

Teen sues parents — for bringing him into the world

By IRWIN FISHER

A teenager is suing his parents for a million bucks because they brought him into the world without his consent!

The lawsuit filed on behalf of 17-year-old Allan Grahn alleges that Esko and Lauri Grahn deprived him "of the bliss of non-being through a willful and wanton act of conception."

On the surface the boy's case would seem to lack merit. But his attorney and a number of legal experts think he just might have a case.

"It's certainly not as preposterous as it sounds," Erkki Kantola, representing young Grahn, told reporters in Tampere, Finland.

"Life is painful and fraught with hardship. Mr. Grahn genuinely thinks his parents were not within their rights to expose him to such suffering without his permission."

Grahn's parents, both 39, refuse to speak with reporters. Their attorney called the lawsuit frivolous — but admits there is no room for error in his presentation of their defense.

"This is a lawsuit-crazy world and there's no telling how a court is going to react," lawyer Otso Lindstrom told reporters.

"It's no secret that my clients are quite well off and could pay what their son is demanding. If we're not careful, we really could lose out."

Public opinion polls show adults siding with Grahn's parents by a margin of almost 2 to 1. Younger people are solidly behind the teenager, however, with a whopping 91 percent supporting his position.

"If the boy wins this case, and he well might, the ramifications could be staggering," Ole Nortamo, a legal scholar, told reporters.

"There are thousands of unhappy kids out there who might sue their parents."

The john isn't an arrest room, judge tells cop

A toilet stall is a man's castle, said a judge, and cops can't bother him there — even if they suspect he's snorting drugs.

Alfred Saunders, 30, was arrested in a prison rest room after a cop said he heard a snorting sound from a toilet stall.

Saunders of Brooklyn, N.Y., had white powder on his upper lip, said the arresting officer. Later, the suspect was seen dropping 13 small packets containing a white powder that turned out to be heroin, said cops.

Judge Dominic Massara said Saunders shouldn't have been arrested based on the snorting sounds since there is a "reasonable expectation of privacy in an open toilet stall in a public rest room" — even in a prison.

Cons make prison escape on ice skates

Officials are looking into security at a Canadian prison after three convicts got away — on ice skates!

Authorities say three inmates escaped from the ice hockey rink at Rockwood Institution, a minimum security facility near Winnipeg. They wobbled off the rink in their skates but weren't discovered to be missing for about 40 minutes.

"They were observed but there would have been quite a few people skating at the time so it's hard to keep track of all of them," explained prison superintendent

HENRY WEBER

An overjoyed mother-to-be says space aliens took her aboard a spaceship — and cured her of AIDS!

"They saved my life and the life of my baby," Sylvia Manisco, 29, told reporters in Florence, Italy. "My own doctors said we were doomed and there was nothing they could do for us.

"But those strange men knew exactly what to do. They used all sorts of strange lights and instruments to cure me of AIDS."

Dr. Eugenio Lauro, the woman's obstetrician, confirmed that she contracted AIDS from a blood transfusion but miraculously she no longer shows any sign of having the virus.

The doctor refused to discuss her alleged encounter with extraterrestrials but conceded "that something miraculous must have happened to have given her this cure."

Mrs. Manisco herself insists that she was abducted by a group of space aliens who subjected her to terrifying but painless medical procedures before releasing her. She was unharmed.

"I found out that I was pregnant and had AIDS on the same day in March," said Mrs. Manisco.

"In fact, I had just about made up my mind to take my own life when two men with long pointed noses and ear

Cops say teens stabbed man and drank his blood

Cops said four teenagers beat and stabbed a man to death and tossed his body into the Mississippi River — after drinking his blood.

The four boys had gone camping with Donald Gall, 30, when a fight broke out, said Sheriff Dick Witschen of St. Cloud, Minn.

Gall's throat and wrist were cut with a knife. One and possibly two of the boys drank his blood, said the sheriff.

Charged with the crime were Timothy Erickson, 19, and Mark Erickson, 18, and two juveniles, aged 13 and 17.

cked at the door to my se. When I answered they ed at me with piercing k eyes and motioned for to follow. I wanted to resist couldn't. They seemed to a power over me that I dn't shake off."

cording to newspaper accounts, the woman said she followed the strangers into a forest near her home and was taken aboard a saucer-shaped UFO that was "a pulsating bluish color, about the size of a school bus."

Once inside the aliens ushered her into a dark circular room, where she was placed on a padded table and strapped down.

"For the first time I was afraid and I started to scream," said Mrs. Manisco.

"When I did, two other men came into the room and pointed a strange-looking flashlight at me.

"One of them pulled a large instrument and light down from the ceiling and pointed it in my face.

"I didn't feel any pain but the men were so frightening I must have passed out."

An astonished Mrs. Manisco woke up — sitting in her own front yard!

Three hours had passed. And the only evidence that anything had happened to her was a single needle mark in her right temple, newspapers reported.

"Whoever or whatever those men were I want to thank them from the bottom of my heart," said Mrs. Manisco.

"I remember them in my prayers every night. I owe them everything."

'They saved my life — and the life of my baby'

Eugene Kahler, the noted French UFO researcher, called the woman's story "remarkable, especially in light of similar incidents that have been reported worldwide over the past five months.

"At least 18 people say extraterrestrials have cured them of deadly afflictions since Christmas," he told reporters.

"It's a bit premature to declare this a trend. But we're going to have to take a closer look at these amazing occurrences."

Teen avenges mom's death with bow and arrow

A 15-year-old boy used a bow and arrow to kill the man who moments earlier had murdered his mom, cops said.

Bernice Pascoe, 35, was sitting in her car at her Dallas apartment when her ex-husband Amir Abbasi-Damnabi, 38, shot her to death.

Investigators said Abbasi-Damnabi then went to the woman's apartment, occupied by her daughter, 12, and son. The boy, cops said, was waiting with a bow and fired an arrow through Abbasi-Damnabi's chest. Cops say the boy surrendered to an off-duty officer who lived nearby.
